OTTAWA SESSION ENDED THIS AFTERNOON

FILM STUDIO PLANS BEING DRAWN HERE

Administration Block, Stage Building and Carpenter Shop First Unit of Scheme

Architect S. Maclure Preparing Plans in Conjunction With E. C. Clarkson

Establishment of the motion picture industry in Victoria has been advanced another stage in the preparation of plans for the studio buildings to be erected by Pacific Pictures Limited on the Cook Street location.

Architect Sam Maclure has been commissioned to prepare plans and working in conjunction with him on this project will be Eric C. Clarkson, a local architect, who has had extensive experience in motion picture production in Hollywood both as a director and technician, being formerly associated with General Pictures Inc. in California.

THREE BUILDINGS

Under the present scheme provision will be made in the plans for three buildings, the administration block, the stage building and the carpenter shop.

The administration block, 100 feet by 45 feet, will contain the studio proper, the administration rooms, printing room, laboratory, cutting room, drying room, film editing room and projection room.

The carpenter shop will house the plaster cast shop and properties for the construction of feature sets.

The stage building will be 100 feet by 75 feet and will be 40 feet high from floor to ceiling.

Adjoining this building will be twenty-five dressing rooms for the accommodation of artists.

FULLY MODERN

The studio will be as fully modern, but on a small scale, as the Hollywood studios.

Differing from similar accommodation at the California studios, the dressing rooms will be heated.

The projection room and film-cutting room will be of fireproof construction, while the general scheme calls for frame and stucco construction.

Provision is being made for further extensions to the studio property as the industry is developed here.

Alfred Hustwick, promotor of Pacific Pictures Limited, is now arranging for the financing of the motion picture industry here.

PICNIC OUTING WAS DISASTER

Woman and Three Children Drowned When Boat Overturned in Winnipeg River

Winnipeg, June 11.—Mrs. Charles Harbottle and three children, Mr. Harbottle's two sons, aged eight and six, and Jack Lepport, eleven, son of William Lepport, manager of the Royal Bank branch at Pine Falls, Man., were drowned in the Winnipeg River at that point yesterday when their boat was swamped.

The body of Mrs. Harbottle was recovered and a search is being made for the bodies of the children.

Eight persons were in the large rowboat, which was fitted with an outboard motor. The others in the boat, all of whom were saved, were Charles Harbottle, husband of the drowned woman; Mr. and Mrs. William Lepport, parents of Jack, and Spencer Lepport, also a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lepport.

The eight members of the party had left Pine Falls Sunday morning for a picnic along the river. On the return voyage, when about four miles from home, the boat encountered a heavy squall and was swamped. Four managed to catch the upturn boat and were later reached by Indians in canoes.

NO ANXIETY OVER FIRES

Immediate Conditions in B.C. Woods Good, Following Rains

Present weather conditions all over British Columbia are extremely favorable to forest fire prevention, according to the weekly fire bulletin issued by the provincial forestry service here.

All forestry districts reported cool, showery or weather or heavy rains last week. This prevented fire outbreaks.

So far 247 outbreaks have been reported as against 140 at this time last year. Of these the southern interior report eighty-six, Cariboo thirteen, Kamloops 20, Prince George thirty, Prince Rupert 33 and Vancouver, including Vancouver Island sixty-five.

California-Australia Fliers Now Planning to Continue Around Globe

Sydney, Australia, June 11 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's).—A desire to continue around the world to-day gripped the two Australian pilots of the monoplane Southern Cross as they rested here with their two United States companions after their 7,800-mile flight from Oakland, Cal., to this city.

However, the monoplane which proved airworthy on the treacherous 7,800-mile course, will not remain idle pending formulation of the world flight plans, as the crew will take off Wednesday for Melbourne.

The Melbourne trip, about 600 miles, was announced by Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and Charles T. Ulm, the Australian pilots, after they made known their hopes for a world tour.

Sydney spent yesterday with the four fliers. A civic reception was held at the City Hall. Hundreds who were unable to gain admittance to the hall enthusiastically cheered the airmen on their arrival at the place.

ANNOUNCES FLIGHT

Capt. Kingsford-Smith announced he and Ulm intended to fly the Southern Cross around the world. The start would be made from Sydney in a few days, he said.

Announcement of the world flight was made before the thousands of admirers of the fliers, who arrived here at 3.09 on Sunday afternoon from Brisbane, completing their long flight from California. It was pointed out that the large trimotored monoplane had been rebuilt from a machine constructed for Capt. Sir George H. Wilkins for his Arctic

MINISTERS OFF TO JOIN FIGHT

Dr. Sutherland Here Alone as Government Campaign Gets Under Way

The provincial election campaign was well under way all over British Columbia to-day. The beginning of the week found every member of the Government except acting Premier Sutherland on the move, with Premier MacLean in the north, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, following him; Attorney-General Manson hurrying to the southern interior; Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, rallying his supporters in Chilliwack; Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Provincial Secretary, busy on the North Shore, and Hon. Dugald Donaghy, Minister of Finance, managing campaign preparations in Vancouver.

The Liberal campaign in coast centres will be launched in earnest when the Premier returns here about June 30 to address meetings in Victoria and Vancouver before starting for the southern interior.

Preparations are well in hand for the few nominating conventions yet to be held in the Province. Chilliwack Liberals are meeting to-day to renominate Mr. Barrow. In Nanaimo the Liberal convention will be held Thursday night. Dates of the conventions to be held by both parties in Victoria and Vancouver have yet to be fixed.

PREMIER AT RUPERT

Prince Rupert, June 11.—Nearly 1,000 people greeted Premier MacLean when he arrived here aboard the steamer Catala Sunday evening on his way to Alice Arm, Anyox and Stewart, where he will address meetings.

He was welcomed by members of the Liberal Association, headed by William Brown, president, representatives of interior association and prominent citizens, also Labor men who desired to ally themselves with him in the contest now being waged.

The Premier expressed approval of the work being done and suggested that under the Liberal regime great developments would occur in the near future.

He said all indications were the Government would be sustained by a substantial majority.

The Premier will return here on Wednesday to address a public meeting, then will proceed to Terrace, Hazelton, Smithers and other points in the Interior before returning south.

NEW AUTO CAMP ON GORGE ROAD

Plans Being Drawn For Resort to Open in July

Plans are being drawn by Leonard James, architect, for an auto camp on five acres on Gorge and Admirals Road, near the old Craigflower School, for L. A. Gale.

Clearing has started on the land to provide for the erection of several cabins, but the natural beauty of the wooded site by the Gorge waters will be preserved as much as possible. A grocery store and gas station will also be erected. With improved ferry services and a prospect of another further increase in automobile tourists this Summer Mr. Gale believes there is need of another automobile camp. He hopes to have it ready to open by July 1.

POWERS HEAR NEW PROTEST FROM CHINA

Nationalist Government Demands All Foreign Troops Leave China at Once

Plan Made For Peaceful Withdrawal of Mukden Troops From Peking

Shanghai, June 11.—The Nanking Government Council, the Nanking Government official news agency announces, has drawn up a manifesto to the powers having treaties with China, which states:

"Foreign troops must be withdrawn from China immediately."

The manifesto says:

"The presence of foreign troops is causing mutual suspicion. The practice of the powers in sending forces to whatever part of Chinese territory their nationals happen to reside will compel the Nationalists to exclude foreigners from the interior of China."

TREATY REVISION

The manifesto declares the reconstruction phase of the revolution has arrived, but that it can not be effectively carried out because of restrictions imposed on China by treaties. Therefore the Nationalists hope the powers will agree to immediate treaty revision.

ARMY AGREEMENT

Washington, June 11.—Assurances have been given the diplomatic corps at Peking that the Chinese Nationalist leaders will make some arrangement for the peaceful withdrawal from Peking of General Pao Yu-lin's Mukdenite troops, numbring 200 men, the State Department was informed to-day.

INTRIGUE GROWS

Shangai, June 11.—The imbroglio in which the diplomatic body at Peking has become involved with Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang, coupled with discouragement because of intrigue among the leaders of Southern China, was given to-night as the real reason for the resignation of General Chiang Kai-shek as commander-in-chief of the Nationalist armies and chairman of the Nationalist Military Council.

DONAGHY IS TO HEAD TERMINAL CITY CANDIDATES

Vancouver, June 11.—The Vancouver Sun carries the following to-day:

"Hon. Dugald Donaghy.
"Brigadier-General V. W. Odlum.
"Chris. McRae.
"Alderman H. E. Almond.

"These four are said now to be almost certain members of the ticket for the Legislature the Liberal Party will submit to the Vancouver City electors on July 18.

"A half-dozen other names are under discussion.

"Dr. R. E. McKechnie and Nicol Thompson are two who have been interviewed by a special committee appointed to meet prospective candidates. Fred W. Sterling, A. L. Teetzel and J. Pitcairn Hogg are others under consideration. The Progressive Liberal Club agreed at its last meeting to put Mr. Hogg's name before the convention.

"Some are said to favor the nomination of a woman candidate. Mrs. J. Z. Hall, candidate on the Provincial Party ticket in 1924, is frequently mentioned.

"Another outstanding Liberal woman is Dr. Evelyn Farris, wife of the former Attorney-General. Her name has been much discussed in Liberal circles, and it would occasion no surprise if she should find a place on the ballot."

U.S. COMPLAINT ON GRAIN HEARD

Secretary of Agriculture Says Wheat Exported Through Montreal Tampered With

Montreal Port Manager Denies Wheat Tampered With There

Washington, June 11—A charge that United States grain, exported through Montreal is being tampered with and that there is reason to suspect collusion by United States exporters in such alleged practices was made by W. M. Jardine, United States Secretary of Agriculture, during a recent conference with a group of United States Senators and members of the House of Representatives who are interested in ascertaining the reasons for recent diversion of commerce, particularly in grain, from United States to Canadian ports.

During the conference, the nature of the discussion at which has now become public, it was alleged United States grain was frequently graded at least one grade higher at Montreal than at United States ports, that such practices tended to injure the prestige of United States grain abroad, and that "one of the leading foreign exchanges abroad" had protested to the Canadian authorities about conditions at Montreal.

FREIGHT RATES LOWER

United States grain had been attracted to Canadian ports in the first place, Secretary Jardine and others said, because of the lower freight rates and because of the British Empire preferential tariff for shipments passing through ports within the Empire.

AGREEMENT SUGGESTED

Secretary Jardine suggested the United States Government ought to have an understanding with the Canadian Government that United States grain would pass through Montreal without reinspection, just as the United States authorities permitted Canadian grain to clear through United States ports.

BOARD MOVES TO UPHOLD WAGE RULES

Will Argue That Forty-cent Wage Applies to Logging Camp Flunkies

Preparations are under way here now for the most serious attempt yet made to upset the regulations of the board administering British Columbia's pioneer Male Minimum Wage Act.

When the International Timber Company goes before the Supreme Court of Canada in an effort to prove that the wage law does not apply to flunkies in logging camps, this contention will be opposed by the board in charge of the law, it was announced here to-day. The board, however, has agreed to the appeal, on the understanding that the International Timber Company will pay all expenses involved, regardless of the verdict.

MUCH MONEY INVOLVED

The case is highly important in its effect on the application of the wage law to the entire lumber industry of the Province. If the Supreme Court upholds the view of British Columbia courts that flunkies come under the law lumber companies will be faced with the payment of large sums of money retroactively to flunkies who have not been receiving the rate of forty cents an hour fixed for lumbering generally.

The case now on its way to the Supreme Court was started by H. F. Field, employed by the International Timber Company as a flunkie in its camp near Campbell River.

M.P.'S COMPLETE WORK AT OTTAWA BY GIVING THEIR APPROVAL TO SUPPLY BILL

Prorogation Comes After Final Discussion of Appropriations for Year and Rejection of Eleventh-hour Amendments Moved by Conservatives

Ottawa, June 11.—The second session of Canada's Sixteenth Parliament came to an end to-day. It came after delays in prorogation caused by the Conservatives.

Ottawa, June 11.—This afternoon, following adoption of the supply bill, the House of Commons adjourned, to meet again at 5.15 for prorogation. No further step was taken on the Sun Life bill or the Bell Telephone bill.

The supply bill was passed after an amendment moved by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, had been declared lost on division. The amendment would have struck from the bill the 10,000 for the salary of Chairman Moore of the Tariff Advisory Board.

PERLEY FAILS

Sir George Perley, Conservative, Argenteuil, Que., moved an amendment that would have reduced the vote of $50,000 for Canada's representation at Tokio to $1,000.

The amendment was lost.

PARLIAMENT TO DISCUSS THE NEW PLAN FOR P.G.E.

Ottawa, June 11—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, in the Commons to-day asked the Minister of Railways, Hon. C. A. Dunning, that nothing should be done with regard to acquisition of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway without the approval of Parliament.

Mr. Dunning replied that when agreement was reached it would be submitted to the Government for approval and in turn to Parliament. However, the negotiations might go to a point where the C.N.R. would reach an agreement with the P.G.E. satisfactory to the Government and the Government might have to indicate its intention to put this before Parliament.

Seven of Polar Airship's Crew Fighting Way to Island Across Pack Ice

King's Bay, Spitzbergen, June 11 (Copyrighted by the Associated Press)—General Umberto Nobile, with a party of six men, of whom two are injured, was reported by the base ship Citta di Milano today to be making his way towards land from the pack ice off Northeast Land.

The advices indicated that one of the men originally with the party that was stranded when the gondola of the North Pole dirrigible Italia broke free from its beam was lost.

King's Bay, Spitzbergen, June 11 (Copyrighted by the Associated Press)—Safe after a perilous landing on the Arctic Sea in the partially wrecked dirigible Italia, the crew of the Nobile North Pole airship was still in the gravest danger to-day as expeditions by land, air and sea got under way to bring the men out of the frozen wastes northest of Spitzbergen as speedily as possible.

Speed was the watchword of the rescuers, for every moment lost, meant an increase in the danger that the eighteen men of the Italia, adrift on breaking ice floes, might be carried into more inaccessible regions or into the open sea.

Divided into two parties and carrying two of their number who were injured when the airship came down on the ice after the the gondola had snapped off, the men of the Italia to-day were slowly seeking to reach Northeast Land, the nearest body of land to the point at which the dirigible came down after its voyage to the North Pole more than two weeks ago.

WEATHER HOLDS OCEAN PLANES

Start of Atlantic Machines From Newfoundland and New York Delayed

Trepassey, Nfld., June 11.—Thick fog and heavy rain seemed to-day to forestall the possibility that the monoplane Friendship could take off for Europe.

Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Stultz, pilot, and Louis Gordon, mechanic, had planned to hop off at dawn today for England.

Curtiss Field, N.Y., June 11—Charles A. Levine, owner of the monoplane Columbia, in which Mabel Boll and two pilots plan to fly to Europe, announced to-day that plans for a takeoff this morning had been cancelled because of reports indicating unfavorable weather over the Atlantic.

Postponement of the takeoff came shortly before the hour stated by Miss Boll last night in an announcement that a start would be made.

Levine said weather reports he had received from steamships at sea indicated there was a storm along the course mapped out for the plane. He disclosed it had been the intention of Miss Boll and the two men who are to pilot the plane on the flight to head directly for Europe, had the plane taken off this morning

OPEN TOWN WAS THOUGHT WANTED

At Vancouver Police Inquiry Inspector Jackson Tells of Mayor's Views

Vancouver, June 11 — Mayor Louis D. Taylor "thought he was elected to run a more or less open town," Inspector John Jackson declared in his testimony at this morning's session of the Vancouver police inquiry.

Jackson swore he had a conversation with the mayor following Detective Rod McLeod's complaint about gambling conditions in the city.

"The mayor wanted us to leave gambling alone and to go after serious criminals such as murderers," he testified.

Jackson, examined regarding his private finances, informed Commissioner Lennie he had made a "chunk of money," while he was at Tia Juana, Mexico.

"Why was it?" asked G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for Police Commissioner T. W. Fletcher, "that there were only forty-nine persons taken in all the raids in 1927 on both 45 Cordova East and 54 Cordova West, or less than were taken in one raid by Jewitt in 1921?"

TOLD TO SLOW UP

"We were told to lay off, as I said before, and go after murderers," answered the witness.

"As a matter of fact, did you not know Mayor Taylor had gone to Chief Long and obtained permission for those places to operate?"

Jackson said he had heard that.

"From whom did you hear that?"

MURDER AT THAT TIME

"From the chief. I understood from him there were two or three places he did not want us to bother about at the time. There had been a murder on Georgie Street East—A Chinaman had been murdered. That was the mayor's excuse."

Jackson did not know when 54 Cordova East had been opened. He had found both establishments operating when he returned to duty in 1927.

"I take it for granted you are not in sympathy with such places. Is it not a fact that this whole wide-open condition was allowed to develop while you were sick?" "Is it not a fact had you retained your health you would have cleaned the situation up?"

"Well there was always a little," replied Jackson.

WOULD CLEAN IT UP

"Yes, I know that. But no man on the force has more broken doors to his credit or more arrests than you have. There must be a reason for the condition which developed. You would have cleaned up the situation if you could?" he was asked.

"Yes," he stated.

CLEARED $1,600

Asked by Mr. McGeer how much money he had made at Tia Juana, Jackson replied:

"I paid all expenses and cleared about $1,600."

"The records show," said Mr. McGeer, "that you bought a car on December 27, 1923, for $2,500 another on May 12, 1924, for $3,530 and another

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, June 11, 1903.

The school board sat for nearly three hours last night. During that time they were employed in transacting business which would have been dispatched in an hour and a half.

Weather Forecast.—Victoria and vicinity: Light or northerly winds, generally fair, with stationary or higher temperature.

The 1903 General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada held its first session in St. Andrew's Church, Vancouver, on Wednesday evening.

Pews for the new Congregational Church at the corner of Blanshard Street and Pandora Avenue are expected from the East.

The register of the Tourist Association shows that the season promises to be an important one with respect to visitors. The names entered on the books of the association for June have this year varied from about ten to twenty a day. Last year during the same time the average was not greater than five or six daily.

The transportation and railway men of this city have decided to form a baseball team and obtain a few scalps from the wholesale grocers, lawyers, or any other combination who wish to go up against them.

Crops in Saanich are described as looking exceedingly well for this time of the year.

Charles W. Jenkinson, deputy Provincial assessor, passed away this morning at the family residence, Colville Road, after a long illness.

The plans for the new C.P.R. docks to be constructed off Belleville Street, it is understood, will call for an arrangement which will prove of great convenience to the traveling public and company alike.

Members of the James Bay Athletic Association interested in rowing are hard at work. The different club regattas and the N.P.A.A.O. regatta necessitate continual training.

The Tacoma Athletic team will play the Victoria baseball team at the Oak Bay grounds to-morrow evening.

IAN MACKENZIE IS NOMINATED

New Provincial Secretary Named North Vancouver Liberal Candidate

Vancouver, June 11—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, new Provincial Secretary, in a brief speech at the party convention here Saturday night accepted the Liberal nomination in North Vancouver for the provincial general election. Every Liberal association and riding was fully represented at the convention and Capt. Mackenzie was chosen standard-bearer by ninety-five votes to six, the six opposition ballots being marked by friends of J. M. Bryan, late member, who desired him to be a candidate again though Mr. Bryan himself had strongly urged the meeting to accept his withdrawal from the field.

Addressing the convention, Mr. Bryan said:

"I give Mr. Mackenzie my unqualified support."

When the result of the ballot was announced, cries of "Bring in the fighting Scotsman!" were heard, and the Minister appeared and was acclaimed by the entire delegation.

TRIBUTE TO BRYAN

Capt. Mackanzie paid a high tribute to the work of Mr. Bryan in the House, saying no private member had ever worked harder in the interests of his constituents.

"If the Liberals of North Vancouver will fight a united battle for Liberalism here," he said, "my victory is as sure as our victory is in the whole province of British Columbia."

Answering Conservative complaints about the Premier's references to the P.G.E. in his manifesto, the Provincial Secretary said it was common knowledge that negotiations had been going on between Victoria and Ottawa over the question and he declared he believed they would be crowned with success.

Speaking in the name of his leader he said:

"If for any reason the present negotiations are held up, tenders will be called for for the construction of the Pacific Great Eastern from North Vancouver to Prince George."

DEVELOPMENT OF RESOURCES

Mr. Mackenzie reminded his supporters he had always worked in the interests of labor and of returned men, and promised his programme as member for North Vancouver would be the support of war veterans, "conciliation of labor, encouragement of capital, development of the resources of British Columbia" and completion of the railway. He asked for a clean campaign on political issues, free from personalities, promising that if North Vancouver Liberals and Conservatives fought his battle in the next forty days, he would fight theirs in the House at Victoria for the next four years.

A. E. Munn, late member for Lillooet, said the Minister had been a champion of the P.G.E. ever since J. M. Bryan had brought the question to the forefront, and considered he was now "pinch-hitter for the railway."

PUBLICITY EXPERTS TO HOLD FAIR

For the first time in its history, the profession of advertising will hold a real world's fair of its own, when the International Advertising Association meets in Detroit, July 8 to 12, for its twenty-fourth annual convention and first annual exposition.

There will be twenty-one advertising bodies holding conventions at the one time, each dealing with a distinct field of advertising. More than 150 speakers are to address these sessions, including representatives from Great Britain, Germany, Canada and France.

Large delegations will attend from Great Britain and continental Europe.

Among exhibits of noteworthy interest will be that of the United States Department of Commerce, an all-Canada display by Canadian advertising interests, an exhibit by the National Better Business Bureaus and that of The London (England) Daily Mail.

It is anticipated that close to 100,000 business men, including manufacturers, retailers and bankers, as well as advertising men, will visit this advertising exhibition.

Big Pageant Will Feature Kiwanis Meet

A pageant of the progress of the Northwest will feature the International Kiwanis Convention to be held at Seattle next week, when 7,500 delegates from all parts of North America will visit Puget Sound.

The entertainment will enlist the services of thousands of actors, and under the title "When East Meets West" will present a story of the development of the Northwest.

The Oriental colonies of Seattle have undertaken to share in the presentation, which is expected to surpass in color similar displays staged at Memphis, Montreal and Denver when those cities were hosts to the International Conventions.

Commons Votes Funds Without Provision For Salary Revision in Winnipeg

Ottawa, June 11.—Postal workers dismissed from the service on account of their participation in the Winnipeg strike of 1919 will not have a salary readjustment. Saturday the House discussed a vote of $115,000 for salaries of such workers since re-employed and still in the service. Readjustment would have given them the benefit of the salaries they would have received had they re-entered the service in the class equivalent to the one in which they were formerly placed. Eventually the Postmaster-General consented to the elimination of the vote and it was struck from the estimates on the motion of the Minister of Finance.

LEFT WITHOUT NOTICE

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, during the debate on the vote, said some 480 of these employees left their employment without notice in violation of their oath because of an effort being made in Winnipeg to establish a form of Soviet government. The action of the postal employees had tied up the public service of the country and had seriously affected commercial activities in Canada.

P. R. M. WALLIS SECURES DEGREE

Vancouver, June 11. — Five of the fifty-nine candidates who were successful in securing the degree of Chartered Life Underwriter of Canada at the recent annual examinations held throughout the Dominion were J. C. Kennedy, Sun Life Assurance Company; John R. Turnbull, London Life Insurance Company; C. M. Stewart, Dominion Life Assurance Company; C. J. Keller, North American Life Assurance Company, all of Vancouver, and Preston R. M. Wallis, Confederation Life Assurance of Victoria. The examination for this degree sets a high standard, and success indicates the candidates have demonstrated their competence to advise the public on life insurance matters.

OTTAWA SESSION ENDED THIS AFTERNOON

MOTION WITHDRAWN

When the House resumed this morning John Evans, Progressive, Rosetown, Sask., had an amendment to supply to provide that all goods imported should be assessed at the purchase price only, unless such purchase price was lower than the manufacturers or venders' price in the country of origin.

On the assurance of the Prime Minister that the matter would receive careful attention from the Government, Mr. Evans withdrew the notice.

The tenor of the motion was that "seeing certain rules and regulations prevail in the Customs Department by which appraisal is made that prevents the operation of co-operative societies for the distribution of supplies of certain industries, particularly agriculture and the necessities of life, it is the opinion of this House that all goods should be imported at purchase prices unless such is lower than the manufacturer or vendor charges in the country of origin."

Mr. Evans said that he wanted the right for co-operative societies to purchase goods at first cost, efforts toward doing so having been made by farmers' organizations on the prairies.

After withdrawal of the motion the House then went into supply to consider the vote of $39,000,000 for the Canadian National Railways, the last item before prorogation.

The House approved the $39,000,000 vote for the Canadian National Railways before the noon adjournment, but business still was unfinished. The supply bill itself still was to be finally dealt with.

The House sat twenty minutes overtime and then adjourned until 2.30. The supply bill was introduced before adjournment, passed all stages up to third reading, and there it halted until this afternoon.

Discussing the Canadian National Railway appropriation, Mr. Bennett said the votes which the House was asked to furnish totaled something over $47,000,000, yet the vote did not indicate in what way the money was to be spent. It had previously been the practice in Parliament to state how these expenditures were to be made.

It should not be left to any select committee to determine those things, he said.

Mr. Bennett devoted some time to giving the Conservative version of the events leading up to the plan for a C.N.R. hotel in Vancouver. Then he turned to the C.N.R. Halifax hotel plan, voicing his opposition to the present proposal.

Speaking on the motion for third reading of the supply bill, Sir George Perley, Conservative, said he wished to oppose the appointment of a Canadian Minister to Japan. There were special reasons for appointment of Canadian Ministers at Washington and Paris, Sir George declared, but these reasons did not apply in regard to Tokio.

Sir George Perley's motion to reduce the vote for the Legation at Tokio from $50,000 to $1,000 was lost on division.

MILK SUPPLIES VITAL ELEMENTS

A quart of milk daily for every person in the family, with generous provision of green leafy vegetables and fresh fruit, are the keystones of a well-balanced diet, Dr. Andrew Hunter, professor of bio-chemistry at Toronto University, this afternoon assured the medical practitioners of British Columbia in an address at the Empress Hotel, the first lecture of the important series featuring the annual convention of the British Columbia Medical Association in progress.

Dr. Hunter was the first speaker on a programme of extra-mural lectures arranged by the Canadian Medical Association, and spoke on preventive nutrition. He pointed out that preventive medicine is concerned with stamping out such germ diseases as typhoid fever and diphtheria. Errors of diet cause diseases or physical defects, and such illnesses as scurvy, rickets, goitre, pellagra and beri-beri are all amenable to dietary changes.

Dr. Hunter considered that most Spring disorders and complaints are traceable to long continued dietary errors, lack of fresh vegetables and sunlight in Winter. Such partial dietary deficiencies have their most severe effects upon children, and he believed that most school children showing defects of the skeleton or teeth can be traced to urban homes where the diet lacks needed factors.

Popular ideas that ample supply of a varied menu assures a proper balance is frequently incorrect, Dr. Hunter pointed out, citing typical menus of tasteful dinners which, if served monotonously, would produce malnutrition. He contrasted the simple milk products diet of the Arabs and the meat diet of the Eskimos to show that monotony of fare was not harmful, provided the elements required by man are all present.

PREPARES WAY FOR AEROPLANES

Although Canada may have lagged behind in the commercial aeroplane race, it has produced some of the finest airmen the world has known and has now commenced to build up a service that will play an important part in the transportation service of the Dominion, says W. F. Prendergast, advertising manager of the Imperial Oil Limited, who is here to-day from Toronto.

Mr. Prendergast is accompanied by W. C. Gilchrist, director of Advertising Service Co.

An aeroplane service providing a regular schedule across Canada from coast to coast is predicted in the near future by Mr. Prendergast. In the East there is a regular air mail service between Toronto and Montreal, Montreal and Rimouski, and Montreal and Ottawa. Plans are now being made for a service between Toronto and Winnipeg and eventually this service will reach out right to the Pacific Coast.

AERODROMES ON PRAIRIES

"Everywhere you look across the prairies you see an aerodrome," said Mr. Prendergast.

In Toronto the Imperial Oil Company is building an aeroplane service station which will be the first of its kind in Canada. It will be built so that aeroplanes can taxi up and secure aeroplane spirits, a brand of gasoline especially for aeroplanes, and other supplies. Aeroplane spirits will also be distributed to most of the 1,600 Imperial Oil warehouses throughout Canada so that aeroplanes landing anywhere, including remote parts parts of the Dominion, will be able to secure fuel.

To guide airmen every warehouse will have painted on the roof in large letters the name of the town and an arrow pointing north.

explorations, bore the marks of many previous tours before defying the broad Pacific.

Brisbane and Sydney have paid their respect to the fliers who pioneered an airway between the United States and Australia. Now Melbourne is to be their host. Harry W. Lyon and James Warner, navigator and radio operator, respectively, of the tri-motored plane, are to gain their share of the honors in the southern city.

Lyon plans to fly back to Sydney on Thursday and board a steamship for the United States. Nothing definite has been said about Warner's plans.

Warner and his coveted Panama hat figured as interesting sidelights of the Sydney visit. When Warner and his three companions arrived at the Mascot Aerodrome Sunday the radio man was so enthusiastically cheered by the jostling crowd that he lost his hat. He appeared worried over the loss, but managed to face the crowd smiling and bareheaded. The headgear was eventually restored to him.

"You have a safety vault in the Royal Bank of Canada?"

"Yes. I'll give you the keys and you can go and have a look at what's in it if you want to," said the witness.

"Well, will you give me a statement of what you had in it before the investigation?" he was asked.

"Just the same as I have now," said the witness. "My brother-in-law in New Westminster pays for the box, but it is in my name. He keeps his papers there and I have my insurance and other papers there also."

TOLMIE BACK TO PREPARE MANIFESTO

NO ANNOUNCEMENT YET

In Vancouver Dr. Tolmie, in reply to newspaper reporters, declined to be drawn further than to state there would be several new features in the Conservatives' policy and in connection with the P.G.E., declaring his forthcoming speeches would set forth a full statement of the position.

The Conservative leader stated he intended to make a tour of the Province shortly, but his itinerary had not yet been completed by the committee that had the matter in hand.

TO SPEAK IN VANCOUVER

"I will address a meeting in Vancouver within a few days, probably about the end of this week or the beginning of next," he said, "and will then make a statement covering all the public issues in British Columbia, with suggestions for improving conditions. I will deal with all the principal issues of the day, including business, agriculture, industries and road building.

"The Conservative policy aims at bringing about real prosperity in the Province, so as to provide employment for our young people and keep them in the country and to settle vacant land. But the first essential, as I see it, is to improve conditions so our own people will find work in our own country.

"To do this," he said, "we should manufacture our own raw products at home, as far as practicable, and we should have a survey of all our opportunities in British Columbia, for the betterment of business conditions.

Dr. Tolmie stated the crops on the prairies were looking excellent, and there was every promise of a very large yield. Cattle were fetching a good price, with prospects of a steady market for some time, and hogs were also bringing good prices.

U.S. COMPLAINT ON GRAIN HEARD

SAME OLD STORY

Montreal, June 11.—"It is the same old sea serpent which appears very often," said T. W. Harvie, general manager of the port of Montreal, to-day in regard to charges said to have been made by Hon. William M. Jarline, Secretary of Agriculture in the United States, that United States grain exported through Montreal is being tampered with.

"The harbor commissioners tamper with nothing," declared Mr. Harvie. "We deliver grain according to orders, and it is subject to inspection, the same inspection as the Canadian grain."

Northeast Land is the most northeasterly of the large islands of the Spitzbergen group.

While a great tide of hope and relief had surged through the crew of the base ship Citta di Milano last week, when radio contact with the long missing Italia was established, there were fears to-day for the safety of the men, cut off from land by the open water leads and ice floes along Northeast Land.

SAVES BATTERIES

Day and night the Citta di Milano operators have been straining every nerve for the Italia's signals. The Italia's radio signals have been growing weaker and now the operator is sending only short reports—it is not believed this is an indication his radio apparatus is failing, but that the operator is saving energy which probably will be sufficient only for a few days more.

Inasmuch as the Italia carried food provisions for at least six weeks, the base crew has no fears for the present regarding the food question, but fears that drifting ice floes upon which the men are stranded will drift into the open sea. The point at which the Italia came down is off Cape Leigh Smith, the northeasterly extremity of Northeast Land, and it is feared the current will send the ice southward between Northeast Land and Franz Josef Land.

In that case, if the rescue parties do not arrive immediately, the ice will be carried toward the King Charles Islands, as even will be carried into Barnet's Sea, which is now open.

Since Friday the Italia's crew has drifted about a mile and a half to the east, being last reported at 28.4 East Longitude. This would place the crew just off the tip of Cape Leigh Smith.

DIFFICULT SEARCH

Fear of the party which is without radio and which is sometimes carried out of sight of the other group is particularly strong, as it would be exceedingly difficult to find those men, should they become definitely separated from the group with the wireless.

OPEN WATER IS BAR

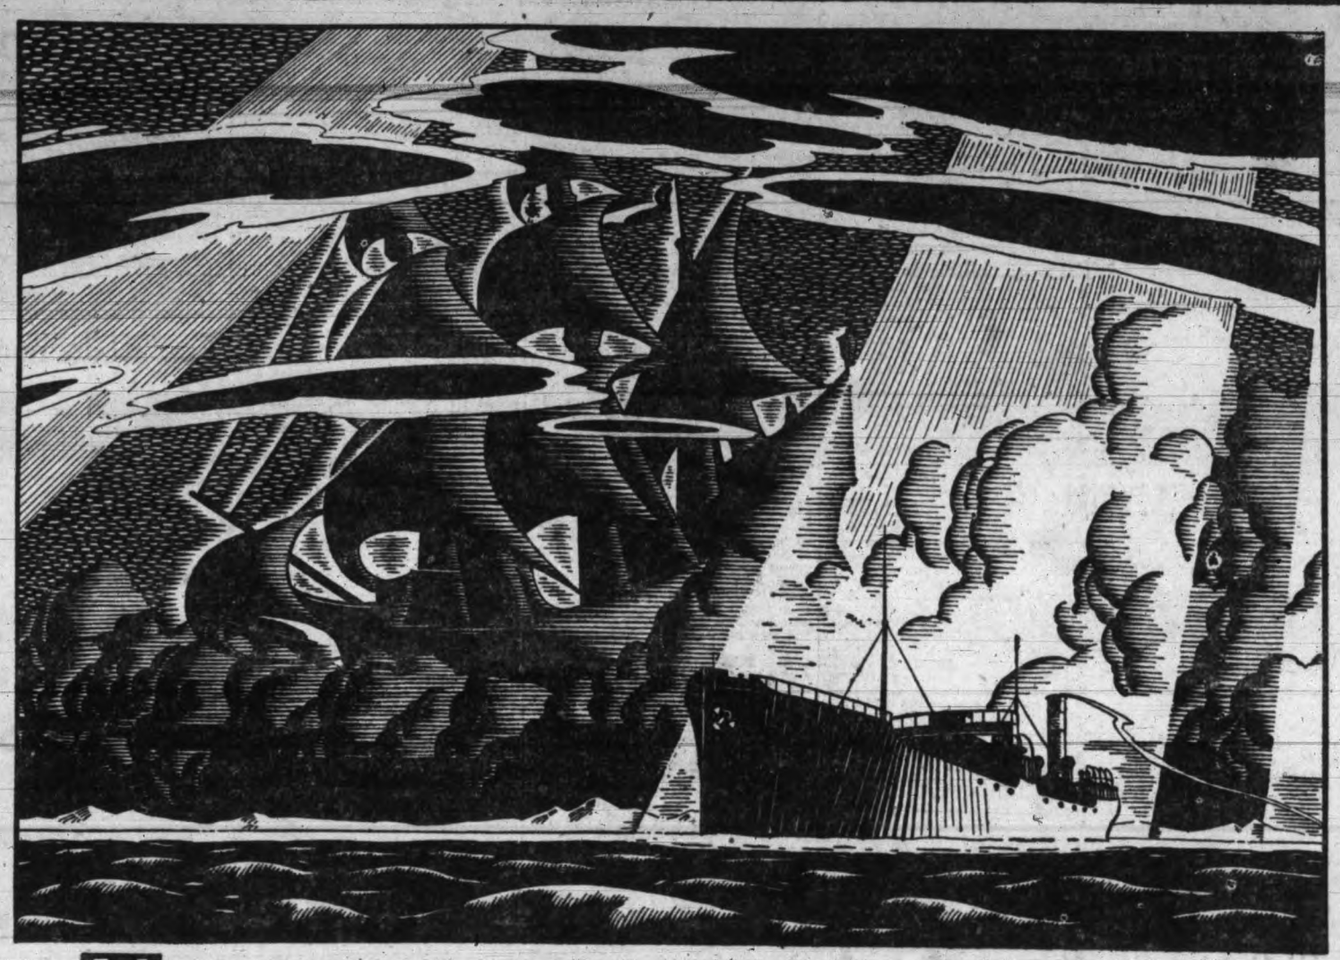
Radio conversations Saturday night and yesterday revealed that open water prevented the two groups joining forces, and also up till then had barred them from making their way to land. Boats to rescue them from their predicament were the need of the moment, it was stated.

RUSSIAN AID ASKED

In the face of these conditions, aid was asked of the Russian Government, which possesses the most powerful icebreakers in the Arctic. Word also was dispatched to Milan to hasten departure of the big Italian seaplane, the Savoia-55. Captain Riiser-Larsen, Norwegian ace, explained that the planes he and Lieutenant Holm had brought to Spitzbergen had not space to carry supplies sufficient for the eighteen refugees. He and the lieutenant, however, have been making every effort to get in touch with the marooned men.

PLANES DELAYED

Captain Riiser-Larsen yesterday flew his plane from Spitzbergen and joined Lieut. Holm on the sealer Hobby, but ice packed around that vessel and prevented them from taking off for the spot in the Arctic Ocean where the Italia's crew was stranded. He also recalled the icebreaker Braganza to King's Bay so it might fit out as a base ship for the Norwegian aviators. But ice conditions also prevented that vessel from making headway.



Treasure from the Tropics

Nature endowed many districts with petroleum containing a high gasoline content. Such oil fields are common. But nature was less generous in providing raw materials for motor oil manufacture. In one oil field she stored a crude petroleum ideal for the requirements of a fine motor oil.

That field is in Peru, and the virtues of its yield were discovered by IMPERIAL OIL scientists. Today, IMPERIAL OIL controls the Peruvian field, and alone has access to its rich crude. Because Marvelube is made from Peruvian crude, it is an inherently better oil that more fully meets the requirements of complete and efficient lubrication under all conditions of motor operation.

Back of Marvelube are the experience, resources and integrity of IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED, for forty-seven years Canada's largest refiners of petroleum products.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

TO MR. A. W. NEILL, MEMBER IN THE House of Commons at Ottawa for Comox-Alberni, belongs the credit for imparting a very human touch to the recent debate on a motion to authorize the committee on industrial and international relations to investigate and report on insurance against unemployment, sickness and invalidity. He described in moving terms the plight of the skilled artisan who found himself out of employment through no fault of his own and pictured the mental anguish which invariably assailed him as he saw his wife and offspring valiantly trying to bear up under the strain. From the essentially practical standpoint, moreover, Mr. Neill proceeded to explode the fallacy that it is an unsound economic policy to protect the worker in this regard by assuring the House that the country generally pays the cost of unemployment through the reduced purchasing power which it entails. He put it this way:

> It is a peculiar trait of human nature that we are willing to pay large sums provided they are camouflaged. We will pay, without much complaint, heavy taxes in the shape of customs duties and excise taxes. For instance, we will pay $30 tax on three gallons of whiskey, yet we object strenuously to paying $30 for income tax. We see the same trait apparent in a ladies aid society. Ladies will work all day in a hot kitchen cooking food, take it to a church social, and then pay for the privilege of eating it, when they would not give the worth of their contribution in a cash subscription. So I submit it is a mere figure of speech to say that we do not pay for unemployment; we pay in a thousand ways. In the first place, in the actual relief paid out.

Mr. Neill referred to one Canadian city which some time ago was paying out relief at the rate of about a thousand dollars a day, much of it in the sum of one dollar a day per man. "Do any of us think that a man getting a dollar a day is a very desirable citizen from the point of view of the manufacturer and the producer of food?" Mr. Neill asked. Under those conditions, he observed, his expenses will be cut to the very minimum; in other words, his purchasing power would be lessened to that extent. The Island member painted this verbal picture:

> As a fair example take a mechanic earning good wages in the city and supporting a wife and two or three children. He owns a house that he has not yet entirely paid for. Depression strikes the industry in which he is engaged and he is laid off. The first thing he does is to cut his expenditure on luxuries, and thereby he increases unemployment because he lessens the demand for manufactured goods, and to that extent slows down the wheels of industry, thereby causing more unemployment. If he cannot get work at his own particular trade he will break into some other branch of work, which generally means the casual labor market, thereby aggravating the condition because there is no more work in that market than before. Consequently he has to steal or share some other man's work, which generally means lower wages for both of them, and further decreases their purchasing power. Then he begins to form the bad habit of contracting debts and not paying them. I am talking of the good type of working man, not the professional bilk. It is wonderful how the habit of accumulating bad debts grows on one. Who pays the bad debts? Surely it cannot be denied that the general public shoulders the burden.

From this purely economic aspect of the situation Mr. Neill proceeded to a study of the psychological point of view. He visualized the unemployed man finding it necessary to dispose of his house because of inability to maintain the payments on it; he saw him gradually drifting to the slum districts; he pictured him a sorry victim of melancholia, gradually losing his health as a result of poor food and insufficient clothing; and, finally, facing the possibility of descending to crime. He then proceeded:

> Two months' idleness make a man a potential hobo. Six months make him a potential criminal. Now, I talk of what I know because I have been in a somewhat similar situation myself; I have seen the idea develop in other men's minds, and to a certain extent felt it myself. We talk of the idle rich and how disastrous they are to the body politic. Well, they do not hurt many people but themselves, and they make employment. But did you ever think of the danger of the idle poor? Not of what they are, but what they may become. This is a far greater evil than anything that may accrue from the idle rich. I think it was Josh Billings who said that the skids are greased once a man starts downhill. Before he will see his children starve he will steal. I would do the same under similar circumstances, and I think I could justify my action to my conscience and to my God, if I could not to the law of the land. What does that entail? Think of the endless cost of police, jails and law-courts.

Before concluding his address with details of the present system of employment insurance in Great Britain Mr. Neill declared crime might owe its origin to reasons other than poverty; but he reminded the House that during the great war crime in England almost disappeared. That happened under conditions most favorable for crime, the absence of policemen and towns in darkness, and yet crime almost disappeared because men were steadily employed in the army or in industries providing the army.

The member for Comox-Alberni, of course, is a keen student of men and affairs. The wellbeing of Canada and her people is a vital concern to him. He considers our national honor is at stake and that the country will be living up to its responsibilities only when it adequately preserves the mental and physical morale of its citizens. Whatever may be done along the lines which the motion recommended, Mr. Neill, at least, contributed in a thoughtful and impressive manner to the debate which ensued.

A FAR-FETCHED OBJECTION

THE VANCOUVER DAILY PROVINCE thinks Premier MacLean should not have suggested in his manifesto that his Government was in a better position to deal with the authorities at Ottawa with regard to the disposal of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway than a government headed by Dr. Tolmie would be. Our contemporary suggests that it is something beneath the Prime Minister's dignity to advance it.

If this is all The Province can find in Dr. MacLean's dignified and instructive pronouncement to complain of, we may assume that the leader of the Government has made a favorable impression upon that newspaper. As to the point which it raises, we would remind it that when Dr. Tolmie was in New Westminster last August campaigning against the present Liberal member for that constituency he promised the electors that he would "take a run over the line" and announce his policy. So far we have no record of the Conservative leader having fulfilled his promise, an extraordinary omission in view of the fact that he now is aspiring to the leadership of the next government. The Pacific Great Eastern Railway problem is British Columbia's most complex one, yet the very man who is leading the party which hopes to be in control of the affairs of the Province after July 18 can know but very little about the subject.

Most people certainly will agree with the suggestion that the Government led by Dr. MacLean is in a much better position to deal with the Dominion Government in respect of this matter than a government whose leader would be out of sympathy with the authorities at Ottawa and who, on his own admission, would be unfamiliar with the problem.

SAVED BY THE RADIO?

AFTER THE WORLD HAD BEGUN TO think that the Italia and her gallant crew had vanished for ever in the Arctic wastes the airship's radio signals were picked up by the supply ship at her Spitzbergen base. General Nobile and his comrades are by no means out of danger; but if they are able to hold out until succor reaches them, they will have a thrilling story to tell. With provisions sufficient to last them for another four weeks, they will have nothing to worry about in this regard; their greatest danger is the movement of the ice upon which they are marooned.

With the flight of the Southern Cross from California to Australia and the Italia to the North Pole the world has had another reminder of the great contribution which the radio has made to modern progress. From the time Captain Kingsford-Smith and his companions left Oakland until the time they landed in Brisbane the ship's radio operator was in touch with land stations virtually the whole of the journey. It was the same story with the Italia. It was only when the signals from the big airship ceased that hopes for her safety and that of her crew began to grow dim. We shall not know much about what happened between then and the resumption of communication until the party has been rescued from its very precarious plight. Had radio communication not been possible, however, there would have been nothing to guide the rescue parties, and General Nobile and his men very probably would have paid the price which so many have paid who have gone into those regions. Even now their chances of rescue are none too good.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE LURE OF DANGER

By Bruce Catton

The top of Mount McKinley, in Alaska, is believed to be the coldest point on earth.

Never-ending Winter reigns on this forbidding mass of rock and ice. Twenty thousand feet above sea level, close to the inhospitable Arctic circle, the lonely mountain is the very incarnation of storm-bound desolation. The winds that lash its barren crags howl unheard; in all recorded time, only three men have climbed to the top.

One of the three is Harry Karstens, superintendent of Mount McKinley National Park. He plans to go back there this year. In 1913, when he and two companions climbed to the top, they left a temperature-recording instrument there. He wants to get it and see just what extremes of cold have gripped the towering peak since his other visit.

There is something about extreme hardship and danger that seems to act as a magnet for some men. Peril, loneliness, discomfort—there are men to whom these things are a perpetual challenge. Mount Everest, lofty and unconquerable in the Himalayas, has entombed on its slopes the bones of many men who gave their lives in an effort to reach the top. The wild Arctic wastes have seen the death of many men who had no good, common-sense reason for going north of the British Isles.

We are always told that these men are trying to increase the scope of scientific knowledge. If Superintendent Karstens regains his thermometer, it is explained, he will add a great deal to what scientists know about the extremes of cold in the Arctic high altitudes.

Doubtless this is all very true. But it doesn't seem to tell the whole story. It is easy to see that the very difficulties and dangers are the real attraction.

These frozen wastes are forever beckoning. It is as if their storm-bound desolation kept repeating, "We are unconquerable, and the man who tries to conquer us dies"; while some man is always muttering, "Is THAT so?" tightening his belt and going up to have a try.

It is not true that men can only be attracted by appeals to their love of ease and wealth. That is a lie invented by the dollar chasers. Cold, peril, darkness and loneliness could always draw men away from comfort and security. There is an indomitable strain in the human race; a hardy recklessness that can never be submerged.

A THOUGHT

BRIDGE MADE EASY by W. W. Wentworth

(Abbreviations: A—ace; K—king; Q—queen; J—jack; X—any card lower than 10.)

INITIAL SUIT BIDS

Thousands of bridge players fear to bid a suit containing four cards. They have been impressed with the idea that at least five cards must be held in a suit in order to make a sound initial suit bid. This theory is fallacious and obsolete. A four-card suit may be bid with as much freedom as a five-card suit, providing the suit and the total hand contain the minimum requirements for a four-card suit bid.

To make a bid in a four-card suit, the total hand should contain at least 2¼ quick tricks, one of which, as a rule, should be in the four-card suit. The four-card suit must contain at least two honors higher than Q-J.

The following table sets forth the minimum requirements for a four-card suit bid:

Cards held in bidding suit	Quick tricks required in other suits
A K Q X or
A K J 10	none
A K J X or
A Q J 10 or
K Q J 10	½
A K X X or
A Q J X or
A Q 10 X or
A J 10 X or
K Q J X or
K Q 10 X or
A Q X X	1
K Q X X or
A J 9 X	1½ or A Q
K J 10 X	2

To fail to bid a sound four-card suit initially may not only deprive your partner of valuable information but also of a game. It may be just the missing suit that he requires for a no trump bid.

REPLY TO MR. DUFF

To the Editor—I must apologize for the length of the following answer to Mr. Duff. It is not possible to deal with a number of vague and illogical statements in as concise a manner as one would wish.

(1) Mr. Duff, in his previous letter, referred to the stringent conditions laid down by Koch regarding the germ theory, so I naturally presumed that he knew what these postulates were. I enumerate them for his benefit:

(a) The germ should always accompany the disease.

This is not the case. e.g. Loeffler himself stated that in twenty-five per cent of his cases the (so-called) diphtheria germ was absent.

(b) The germ should not be found apart from the disease.

The germ is found apart from the disease. The body harbors all sort of germs without disease being present.

(c) The germ should be removed from the body and grown in a test tube. Germs grown in a test tube are not stable; they change shape under certain conditions of food and light.

(d) The germ, if inoculated into an animal, should produce the same disease.

This does not happen; e.g. the pneumococcus of pneumonia introduced into the lung of a rabbit induces not pneumonia, but general septicaemia.

"It is not at all rare to fail to find the causal organism in an individual case of the disease . . . Again, many organisms which are considered to be causal are frequently to be found in healthy persons . . . When a causal organism is injected into an animal, often it happens that it gives rise to a disease bearing no clinicapl resemblance to the original malady . . . It must be acknowledged that all these postulates are complied with very rarely, indeed, if ever." (Lancet, March 20, 1909).

Scientists have not yet supplied their proofs of the germ-theory and no one is obliged to accept a mere theory. Mr. Duff distrusts The Lancet of twenty years ago because it conflicts with the opinions of bacteriologists and medical men, but an increasing number of medical men and even of bacteriologists themselves, are criticising the findings of bacteriologists.

(2) Though I do not know that the "dirt theory," as Mr. Duff terms it, has any special connection with the anti-vivisection movement, I would like to give some data on the subject of the suggested chemical cause of disease. A mere statement that the 'dirt theory' may be untenable is hardly sufficient. By this appelation Mr. Duff presumably means the theory which is daily gaining in strength, viz: that disease may be the result of chemical reaction. The idea that a small quantity of dirt is incapable of setting up these reactions which may cause disease, is an ex cathedra statement which one can hardly accept. We cannot tell what chemical reactions and interactions may take place. The increase of organisms in the presence of a disease is no proof that they cause the disease. The original germ-theory put forth by Professor Bechamp of Montpellier University, is that germs increase to combat the diseased condition of the body.

On June 18, 1921, Professor Collis, at a conference on Industrial Welfare opened by the Duke of York, said that recent experimental work had shown that the evil effect of dust is due to its chemical action; its presence often acting after the fashion of say, arsenic; it attacks the delicate cells and subtly alters them. Professor Collis then quoted various instances where this occurs, such as the destruction of the kidneys. He pointed out that although the dust itself could not possibly reach the kidneys, yet it set up a chemical reaction which caused Bright's Disease. He also pointed out that the same processes applied to the action of oil on living tissues, acting as a poison. In this connection it is curious that those who most loudly state their knowledge of science, are actually ignorant of modern scientific investigation.

(3) I neither agreed with, nor refuted, the statement that shooting causes more suffering than vivisection (Mr. H. G. Wells's argument), neither did I mention the word "shooting." What I did say was that all the wrongs of the world could not simultaneously be righted. I certainly agree that shooting causes great suffering, though not necessarily more so than vivisection. However, I still fail to see why it is the prerogative of the anti-vivisectionists to fight all forms of cruelty, though they certainly do what they can in this direction. Surely their hands are full enough already! There are societies formed to attack the various forms of cruelty and while it would be desirable that there should be but one organization to oppose all forms of cruelty to animals, without fear or favor, this does not happen to be the case. I fail to see where there is any evasion of the question on my part.

Because it is impossible to give time and space to dealing with every statement set forth by Mr. Duff, this does not imply an evasion of his remarks. I have not seen the previous correspondence in which reference is made to the differences between animals and human beings I will, however, briefly refer to this. There are both likenesses and differences; the points of likeness are easier to discern than the differences. Questions now being investigated are so advanced that the smallest difference is of the utmost importance, e.g., the actions of poisons which vary in almost every species of animal.

Professor Starling (before the Royal Commission—Q. 3779) said: "It is a question of application to man; the last experiment must be on man . . ." Again, with reference to rabbits, he mentioned the difference between its diet and digestive system and that of man. The low organization of its nervous system limits its capabilities as a means of physiological analysis of higher functions and renders it impossible to apply results obtained on it directly to the elucidation of the functions of man.

The chairman of the Royal Commission (Q. 17158): "With regard to the difference between human and canine organs, we have had physiologists speaking about the differences. There is no dispute that there is a difference."

Prof. Starling (referring to farm animals) Q. 3445, speaks of the wide divergence between the anatomy of their elimentary canal and that of man. Many other instances might be supplied.

Mr. Duff says "It is false that Harvey did not establish the circulation of the blood." What I said was that he did not establish it by vivisection and that there were other contestants for the theory of circulation who preceded Harvey. Harvey was ridiculed by a number of his contemporaries and could not get any man over forty to accept his theories. No one could deny that he was a great scientist, but it is possible that his experiments only mystified him. It was the discovery of the position of valves and the fact that the blood flowed towards the heart which induced his belief in circulation. This could only have been proved on a dead body and by the study of anatomy; vivisection could not have helped him in the least. He admits his work on dead bodies, and Sir G. McIlliwain, before the Royal Commission of 1876, said "You could not discover the circulation in the living body. I do not see how it is possible to do it. If you had a dead body then it is so easy to discover the circulation because if you inject by the arteries you find that it is returned by the veins (Q. 1845-6). Harvey's biographer, Dr. Willis, admits that he died without having demonstrated the circulation as a scientific fact. "He left the doctrine of the circulation as an inference or induction only, not as a sensible demonstration . . ." The final proof was made in 1661, years after Harvey's death. Sir Robert Boyle says "I remember that when I asked our famous Harvey what were the things that induced him to think of a circulation of the blood, he answered me that when he took notice that the valves in the veins of so many parts of the body were so placed that they gave a free passage to the blood towards the heart . . . he was incited to imagine that so provident a cause as Nature had not placed so many valves without a design . . ."

Dr. Bridges, Harveian Oration, October 18, 1892, said: "It has sometimes been said, especially of late years, that experimentation on living animals was the process through which Harvey's discovery was—achieved, but this, though it has been used as a potent argument before an uninstructed public, has always appeared to me an exaggerated view . . . Harvey's MS. notes show, even more emphatically than his published work that direct observation of the pulsating heart in the higher vertebrates taught him but little." Professor Lawson Tait, England's greatest surgeon, said: "It is deemed by many (and I made the denial years before I ever took part in the vivisection controversy) that the merit of this discovery is to be credited to Harvey . . . The circulation of the blood could neither be discovered nor demonstrated now by anything but a dead body and a syringe . . . . . ."

Mr. Duff reminds us that the proof of the benefits gained from experiments on animals is widely scattered through The Lancet, and he cannot take space to describe them. I emphatically assert that nothing of value has been gained by vivisection, and equally true is it that I cannot take space to refute the so-called proofs that it has. "Those who know the aims and tendencies of research," says your correspondent, "will judge whether cruelty is exceptional or not. In most cases if the surgeon is not to defeat his own aims anaesthesia and proper care are necessary."

Mr. G. B. Shaw pointedly tells us that "it is ridiculous to expect that an experimenter who commits acts of diabolical cruelty for the sake of what he calls science, can be trusted to tell the truth about the results . . . . ." There are, however, innumerable professional and scientific men who have proved the cruelty and denounced it, and who have no use for vivisection as a method of research. "I accuse my profession of misleading the public as to the cruelties and horrors which are perpetrated on animal life . . ." said the late Dr. G. Wilson (member of the Royal Commission on Vivisection, 1912). The anaesthetic delusion, says the late Dr. A. Leffingwell, is the greatest delusion and it is the public that is anaesthetized. Many operations could not be performed at all under anaesthetics for they would defeat the objects of the experimenter.

To talk of a "minor" quality of suffering is a gross misrepresentation of the truth, or it is an exhibition of profound ignorance. There are many channels of investigation open to Mr. Duff on all these points and if he will pursue them with an unprejudiced mind, he will learn much that will upset his preconceived notions.

Finally, ethical standards are essential, notwithstanding that all of us fall short of such standards. I hold it as essentially non-ethical to exploit and torture creatures which are in our power and cannot defend themselves. I surely may be pardoned if I have deduced from Mr. Duff's correspondence that he is supporting vivisection and thinks anti-vivisectionists are "cranks," albeit he would see the one sadistic brute out of a thousand punished for his cruelty. If I have misread him and he really disapproves of vivisection, I apologize and gladly welcome him within the ranks of those opposed to vivisection and its horrors.

PERTINAX.

JOTS FROM GEOGRAPHY

GERMAN POTASH MINES, in the vicinity of Stassfurt, reach a depth of 3,000 and 4,000 feet. Deep in the heart of the earth, nearly a mile from its surface, German miners cut into the walls of the mineral and load the product on cars, which are transported to the mines. It is potash salts, too, used in the manufacture of explosives, matches and many other things, but the principal use is for fertilizer.

DEAN PROPOSES TUTORIAL CLASSES

Meeting to Consider Details Will Be Held To-morrow

In Christ Church Cathedral yesterday, the Dean of Columbia, Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, announced his intention of organizing church tutorial classes for the promotion of religious education among adults. A meeting to consider details of the classes, the proposed study courses and text books, will be held in the guild room, Memorial Hall, to-morrow evening at eight o'clock. Classes will begin in September, and will meet weekly on an evening to be decided upon at to-morrow night's meeting.

A movement for adult religious education has been gathering strength in England for some time, the Dean stated. It offers facilities for the systematic study of the Christian religion, and arose out of the felt need of instruction.

A committee appointed a few years ago by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York on "The Teaching Office of the Church," reported on the "failure of the church to impart an intelligent understanding of the faith to its members." Outside the church it was found that many were deeply interested in the Christian faith.

The system of adult religious education, known as church tutorial classes, was started by such prominent leaders as the late Bishop Burge, Bishop William Temple, Bishop Gore and Dr. Albert Mansbridge. No pledge of church membership is required from those joining a class, which generally consists of not more than thirty, and not less than ten members. Every member pledges himself or herself to study in advance a chapter or more of the selected textbook, a copy of which he purchases.

The usual course covers three years, the Old Testament being studied during the first Winter, the New Testament during the second season, and Christian doctrine or history during the third year. Members may do written work, but this is optional.

The title, "Tutorial Class," suggests the method of the tutor in leading his pupils to form views of their own, and to acquire information themselves. A large part of the time during the class-meeting, the Dean stated, would be taken up with a conference on the subject of study.

Among the qualifications required of those who wished to join the classes were a keenness to study, a willingness to do some work, and to re-state old beliefs if necessary. The classes would, therefore, appeal to thoughtful people who were anxious to understand the Christian religion in the light of modern knowledge.

COCHRANE LAUDS MEDICAL SACRIFICE

In his speech introducing Dr. Bloodgood of Johns Hopkins University to the Canadian Club here on Saturday John Cochrane, past president, who presided said:

"Our gathering to-day is largely composed of medical men, with whom, as a pharmacist, I have enjoyed intimate association for many years. Such being the case, permit me to briefly direct your attention to three aspects of the practice of medicine as it appears to me, before presenting our distinguished guest.

"First—The universality of the demand for medical attention.

"Ever since the dawn of history mankind has been groping, thinking and striving to overcome and to prevent those ills to which human flesh is heir. Marvelous results have attended these efforts. What an interesting and romantic panorama of profound thought, ceaseless endeavor and successful accomplishment unfolds before our vision as we contemplate the investigations and triumphs of medical and surgical research.

"And it is to the immortal glory of this science that she recognizes no bounds of creed, of color, of race nor of nationality, in imparting, to all mankind the blessings of her achievements; 'One touch of nature makes the wohle world kin.'

"Second—The importance of the possession and maintenance of good health.

"Sound mental and physical health are two essentials to the enjoyment of a happy, vigorous and useful life.

"The possession of these essentials is more valuable than is the possession of wealth, social position or political preferment.

"In this connection we call to mind a statement made thousands of years ago, regarding Job, the man of Uz, who, as a trial, was stripped of his wordly possessions and subjected to physical disease. 'All that a man hath will he give for his life.'

"This statement is cited only to emphasize the necessity of good health for the full enjoyment of life.

"I have too great confidence in the integrity and generosity of medical practitioners, to imagine for one moment that any advantage will be taken of this Biblical quotation, in determining the amount of a patient's account for professional services rendered.

"Third—The self-sacrificing service to humanity involved in the practice of medicine.

"What a wealth of merciful medical activity this aspect opens to our consideration, from the scientific investigations of technical experts in the laboratories of institutions of education on one hand, to the never-ceasing service rendered by general practitioners upon the frontiers of civilization, on the other.

"There is one statement which would appear to be appropriate to a considerable extent in describing the activities of the conscientious medical practitioner. It is the declaration made on Calvary 1,900 years ago, and made at that time as a taunt, inspired by fierce hatred and contempt, but a declaration which stands to-day and which has stood down through the centuries as a supreme tribute to the goodness of the life there given and to the sacrifice there made, which justify this declaration: 'He saved others, Himself He cannot save.'"

EFFORT TO END STRIKE

Toronto, June 11—The Toronto Building Trades Council has asked the Prime Minister of Canada, Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways of Ontario and Acting Premier in the absence of Hon. G. H. Ferguson, and Mayor Sam McBride of Toronto to act as mediators in the dispute between some 400 steelworkers here, who have been on strike since May 15 last, and the Steel Erection Companies.

LADY BLADES TO BE CANDIDATE

Former Lady Mayoress of London to Succeed Husband M.P.

London, June 11 (Canadian Press Cable)—The idea of wives succeeding their husbands in the House of Commons is becoming a habit.

In addition to Lady Astor, Lady Iveagh and Mrs. Hilton Phillipson, who thus qualified for membership in the Commons, it is now recommended by the party association at Epsom that Lady Blades, former Lady Mayoress of London, be adopted as the Conservative candidate for the riding in succession to her husband, who was elevated to the peerage in the recent birthday honors. He was formerly Sir Rowland Blades, who was credited with making an outstanding success last year as Lord Mayor of London.

C.G.I.T. Group—The C.G.I.T. Groups of the Emmanuel Baptist Church together with their leaders, Miss Nina Rigby and Miss Lilian Parfitt, entertained at their annual "Mother and Daughter" banquet. The Sunday school room had been decorated for the occasion and the tables made a very pretty setting with their decorations of flowers and group colors. Following the banquet an excellent programme was given: Miss Olive Baker, president of the C.G.I.T. department carried out her duties as chairman in a most efficient manner and on behalf of the girls extended a welcome to the mothers. Eleanor Anderton spoke on "The Kind of Mothers We Love" and Mrs. E. S. Woodward on "The Kind of Daughters We Expect a C.G.I.T. Girl to Be." Mrs. H. Knox, superintendent of the Sunday school gave a very inspiring and helpful address to the girls on "character building." The welcome to the guests was given by Rosiemai Parfitt and greetings from the Victoria Girls' Council was extended by the president, Miss G. Beall. The musical part of the programme consisted of vocal solos by Anna Clarke and Annie Rhodes, piano solos by Thelma Birnie and Kathleen Baker, a vocal duet, "Oh, No, John," dramatized by Mildred Margison and Rosiemai Parfitt, a pianoforte duet by Thelma Birnie and Rosiemai Parfitt, and a song, "The Woodpecker," by the Junior Group. A pageant entitled "Canadian Womanhood in the Making," was presented by the Intermediate Group, Kathleen Baker carrying out the role of "the Spirit of Canadian Womanhood." Others taking part were Pauline Woodward, Isabel Marrion, Katherine Murray, Anna Clarke and Margaret Heap. The delightful evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Taps." Mrs. G. H. E. Green was the accompanist for the evening, and the Misses Marion Jamieson, Bertha Waites, Margaret MacLaurin and Margaret Miles assisted in serving.

June Wedding Was Pretty Ceremony

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the First United Church on Wednesday evening when Rev. Dr. Wilson united in marriage Irene Grace, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Davis, Richmond Road, to James Allan McColm, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. McColm of Ross Spur, B.C.

The Bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march, played by organist Gurney. She looked lovely in a gown of white georgette and silver lace, and wore an embroidered veil caught up with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of bridal roses, iris and maidenhair fern.

She was attended as maid of honor by Miss Lillian Anderson, and as bridesmaids the Misses Viola Davis, sister of the bride, and Alice Whittle and Nessie enfrew, attired in pastel shades of crepe de Chine and Swiss lace, and carrying bouquets of pink and mauve sweet peas and fern. Little Dolly Davis, cousin of the bride, was a dainty flower girl in maize and organdie. The groom was supported by Ernest Starkey, the ushers being Mr. Percival Davis and Sidney Starkey. During the signing of the register Miss Isobelle Crawford sang sweetly, "Beloved It is Morn."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sons of England Hall where a large assembly of friends had gathered. The guests were received by the bride's mother, charmingly gowned in Alice blue crepe de Chine.

A handsome three-tiered wedding cake graced the table. The bridegroom's gift to the bride being a silver grey leather purse and to the bridesmaids and flower girl, brooches, and to the maid of honor a string of pearls, to the best man gold cuff links, and to the ushers gold tie-clips.

The happy couple left amid showers of good wishes for Seattle, Spokane and Ross Spur, B.C., where their honeymoon will be spent. The bride's going-away dress was of coral crepe de Chine and grey Charmeline coat trimmed with moleskin and a picture hat of coral taffetta.

Primrose Lodge—Two new members were initiated at the quarterly meeting of Lodge Primrose No. 32, Daughters and Maids of England, in the Sons of England Hall, the worthy president, Mrs. Oliver, presiding. A good report, with a substantial balance for the funds was given by Mrs. McKenzie who convened the box social. The next meeting, June 22, will be a "get together" social for all members when strawberries and cream will be served. NAVAL WEDDING IS PICTURESQUE CEREMONY TO-DAY

Miss Margaret McVittie Becomes Bride of Lt.-Com. A. R. Pressey, R.C.N.

A naval wedding of much interest was solemnized at noon to-day at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, when Rev. A. E. de L. Nunns united in marriage Margaret Emily, only daughter of the late Mr. A. W. McVittie and Mrs. McVitte of 1339 Newport Avenue, and Lieutenant-Commander Arthur Roddy Pressey, R.C.N., son of the late Lieut.-Colonel T. E. Pressey and Mrs. Pressey of 1626 Fell Street, Victoria, formerly of Duncan, V.I. Lieut.-Commander Pressey is in command of the R.C.N. ship Armentieres.

Under the direction of Miss Jean Dunbar, girl friends of the bride had beautifully decorated the church in a color scheme of blue, yellow and white, delphinium, campanula, iris and other Summer flowers lending themselves to the very charming effect.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. C. A. McVittie of New York, the bride wore a lovely wedding gown of ivory taffeta, with tight bodice and long sleeves. The bouffant skirt was slashed in front and edged all around with lace banding, dipping almost to the heels at the back. Her snowy tulle veil was caught over each ear with a cabochon of orange blossom and fell in train-like folds over her gown. A bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley completed the charming toilette.

Miss Christine Ross, the maid of honor, and the Misses Jean Dunbar and Peggy Pressey, the bridesmaids, were gowned alike in picture frocks of silk marquisette flowered in yellow, over yellow taffeta slips, with tiny capes falling to the waist at the back and tieing over the bateau-shaped neckline in front with long streamers. Becoming hats of yellow mohair trimmed with blue flowers, and bouquets of blue delphinium and yellow Columbines completed their dainty costume.

Lieut. F. R. Gow, R.C.N., supported the bridegroom, and Lieut. Wallace B. Creery, R.C.N., and Lieut. W. Holms, R.C.N., acted as ushers. As the bridal party left the church, officers from the naval barracks formed a guard of honor.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at "Rockhome," Saanich Road, the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Hutchison. The bride and bridegroom received the felicitations of their many guests on the lawn beneath a rustic arch which was banked high with masses of red valerian, festooned with roses and trailing syringa, with the rock gardens forming a colorful background. Mrs. McVittie, handsomely gowned in powder blue flowered chiffon with a blue hat, was assisted by Mrs. Pressey and Mrs. Hutchison in receiving the guests.

The drawing-room was decorated with white spirea, blue delphinium, roses and peonies. In the dining-room the color scheme was yellow. The wedding cake, cut by the bride with her husband's sword in accordance with time-honored tradition, centred the table, which was decorated with filmy yellow tulle, yellow rosebuds and blue nepeta in silver vases, and tall yellow tapers in silver candelabra. Refreshments were served in the dining-room and on the lawn.

The many beautiful gifts received by the young couple were displayed in the den, which was also effective with a profusion of flowers.

Lieut.-Commander and Mrs. Pressey left by the 4.30 boat for their honeymoon, which will be spent in motoring. The bride traveled in a smart sports suit, the jumper of Indian skin French flannel banded in cream and pleated skirt of crepe de Chine, with which she wore a cream woollen sports coat and a close-fitting hat of Bangkok straw with small feather fantasy. On their return they will make their home at Colwood.

Esquimalt Women's Institute—The monthly meeting of the Esquimalt Women's Institute will be held on Tuesday evening at 7.45 in the Parish Hall.

PRETTY WEDDING SATURDAY NIGHT

Nuptials of Miss Vera Howe Bevan and Mr. Thomas Moffett

A charming June wedding was solemnized at the Fairfield United Church on Saturday evening when Vera Howe, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bevan, of 439 Walton Street, became the bride of Mr. Thos. Moffett, youngest son of Capt. and Mrs. C. B. Moffett of Droxford, England. Rev. Thomas Keyworth performed the ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of roses and fern by girl friends of the bride, the ceremony being performed under an arch of ivy on which a beautiful petalled wedding bell was suspended.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of the "Lohengrin" Wedding March, played by Major Watts. She looked lovely in her French imported sleeveless wedding gown of white taffeta made in bouffant style with uneven hemline, beautifully embroidered all over in clusters of tiny silver thread, each cluster being centred by tiny white ribbon true lover's knots. Fastened to the back of the neck was a bow of velvet ribbon, the streamers of which fell to the hemline. Rhinestones were used as trimmings, and fastened at the waist was a large white and silver flower. The hand embroidered veil was held in place by a circlet of orange blossoms from which the soft folds fell to the ground. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley.

Little Miss "Baba" Bevan, sister of the bride, and Miss Joan Boulter were winsome flower girls in dainty sleeveless frocks of crepe de Chine, fashioned alike in shell pink and powder blue respectively, with a belt at the low waists, caught in front by a diamente buckle. Both wore silver bandeaux and French flowers in their hair and carried dainty baskets of sweet peas.

The bride was attended as maid of honor by Miss Pearl Heather of Vancouver, who wore a gown of pale mauve georgette with lace inset, fashioned in bouffant style with uneven hemline and tight bodice. Upon the skirt were three rows of lace and clusters of French flowers. She wore a picture hat of mauve mohair and lace, and her bouquet was of mauve sweet peas.

The bridesmaids, Miss Una Beavan, elder sister of the bride, and Miss Marjorie Burnett, wore sleeveless gowns of deep peach taffeta, fashioned alike, in bouffant style with uneven hemline. A bow of selfsame material was fastened to the left shoulders, the streamers of which fell to the hemline. Both wore large picture hats of white mohair with flowers and velvet ribbons, and each carried shower bouquets of sweet peas.

The choir, of which the bride is a member, sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," and during the signing of the register Mrs. Nora Johnson sang beautifully "Because."

The groom was supported by Mr. Mark King and the ushers were Mr. Ernie Dyson and Mr. Clarence Carver.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where about sixty friends were present. The young couple stood beneath a canopy decorated in pink and white, from which was hung a pink bell to received the felicitations of the guests. They were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, who was smartly attired in black crepe back satin and georgette, with model hat to match.

The dining-room was prettily decorated in shell pink and white, the table being centred by a handsome three-tiered wedding cake, supper was served buffet fashion by girl friends of the bride.

During the reception Miss Marjorie Tebo rendered a piano solo, Miss Una Bevan a violin solo and Mr. Mark King vocal numbers.

The happy couple were the recipients of numerous handsome presents, among which was a handsome case of cutlery from Strain's Limited, where the bride has been employed for the past five years, and a beautiful cut glass vase and bouquet from the members of the Fairfield United choir.

The happy couple left on the midnight boat, the bride traveling in a frock of fawn embroidered georgette with model hat of lace and French flowers, and navy coat with mole collar. Upon the return from their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Moffett will take up their residence on 943 Hampshire Road, Oak Bay.

The out-of-town guests present at the wedding were the Misses Pearl, Violet and Alva Heather of Vancouver.

GIRL GUIDES HELD SUCCESSFUL FETE

Delightful Affair at Government House Saturday

A lively and attractive scene was presented on Saturday afternoon in the beautiful grounds of Government House, where the Girl Guides and Brownies of Victoria districts and of South Saanich held their annual garden fete.

The opening ceremony was performed by Mrs. J. A. McDonald. The march past of the Guides then took place, Mrs. Alan Morkill, provincial commissioner, taking the salute. Supporting Mrs. Morkill were Mrs. W. C. Nichol, honorary provincial commissioner, Miss Hilda Leighton, divisional commissioner for South Vancouver Island; Mrs. Kinloch, divisional commissioner for Cowichan Valley; Mrs. George Phillips and Mrs. L. A. Genge, district commissioners for South Saanich, and Mrs. Curtis Simpson, president of the Local Association of Girl Guides.

The Guides afterwards lined up in ceremonial horseshoe formation and the Fairfield Company (Third Victoria West) was formally presented with its colors by Mrs. Morkill, this being the gift of the First Victoria Ranger Company.

BROWNIES' HOWL

At the conclusion of the ceremony the Brownies ran in and gave their grand howl and salute in honor of the commissioner and other distinguished guests, whom they surrounded. Maintaining the big circle thus formed the Brownies took part in a most attractive descriptive dance specially arranged and directed by Mrs. L. A. George, which won great applause.

A splendid display of intricate figure marching by the Guides, the next item on the programme, was enthusiastically received, and reflected great credit on Miss Aline Stewart Williams, by whom it was designed and organized, and who had directed the training.

A charming Maypole dance was given by the Guides and Brownies of St. Margaret's School, accompanied by the school choir.

The music of the 16th Canadian Scottish Junior Pipe Band added greatly to the afternoon's enjoyment, and the picturesque kilts made a brilliant note of color. A Highland dance contributed by Miss A. Grant, also in Scottish attire, was carried out with great spirit.

MANY ATTRACTIONS

Many attractions were offered on the lower lawn, where stalls, displaying fancy work, home cooking, crafts and novelties were operated by the various companies and packs. Very effective was the little gabled house with hanging sign, "Ye Olde Bakery Shoppe," where Esquimalt Guides offered cakes of all kinds. Outstanding efforts in craftsmanship were displayed in the imitation Chinese lacquer work and other novelties offered by the Sixth Victoria West Company, and the bird houses made by First Ranger Company. Lady Douglas Company had a wonderful variety of articles and was also responsible for many of the side shows.

Cocoanut shoes, Aunt Sally, quoits, bingo, spinning jenny, shooting galleries all catered to sporting tastes. Fortune tellers held seances in their little tents and pony rides and the mysterious treasures of the "lady with a thousand pockets" proved very alluring to the children.

Ice cream, candies and "hot dogs" were all very popular, and afternoon tea was served under the direction of Mrs. Stewart-Williams and Miss G. Page, assisted by Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Symons, Mrs. Little and Mrs. Boyles Smith. The Guides were most attentive and efficient waitresses.

Misses L. Bowron, M. Wigley, M. Unwin, A. B. Paul and E. Richardson, all members of the Kumtuks Club, took charge of the receipt of customs.

DEBATE UPSET PLANS OF M.P.'S

Members Hoped For Prorogation Saturday, But Spent Sunday in Ottawa

Ottawa, June 11.—As the debate in the House of Commons continued Saturday night it became apparent the members would not carry out the plan made earlier in the day and reach prorogation before midnight. All day Saturday and through the night until the clock recorded a few minutes on Sunday, the House was in almost continuous session. It was a long day, generally of wearisome discussion, now and again of lively exchanges. The Governor-General was on hand through the evening, waiting for the call for prorogation which did not come and at length, with the vote of $39,000,000 for the Canadian National Railways still under discussion, the House adjourned till to-day for the closing ceremony.

The views of Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, led to the prolonging of the debate on its new Halifax Canadian National Railway hotel.

INCREASE TRAFFIC

Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Railways, said the contribution of the system's hotels was in the way of increased traffic and that their worth was not represented in the hotel earnings.

He believed the Halifax Hotel would be no exception in this regard.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, refuted the suggestion by Mr. Bennett that the subscription by the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Lord Nelson Hotel in Halifax had been made before the Canadian National Railway announcement of no participation in the scheme.

A warm interchange between Mr. Bennett and Col. Ralston ensued, which continued until midnight when the House adjourned.

IMPOSSIBLE TO MAKE STRAIGHT HAIR CURLY

Mrs. W. S. R.

There are no rules about the condition you mention, but I cannot answer this in the column so that it would be understandable to you. Will you send me a self-addressed and stamped envelope so I can answer you personally?

I am afraid that all the brushing "the wrong way" of the hair would never in a thousand years cause really straight hair to be curly. The shafts of straight and curly hair are entirely different and just as you can't make curly hair lay flat no matter how hard you brush or wet it down, neither can any amount of brushing in any direction make straight hair anything but mussed up.

Curly hair has a flat shaft, and so if you visualize it you can see how easy it would be to wrap a flat thing around your finger and make it stay that way. Now think of a perfectly round shaft and you can understand that this would always straighten out no matter what you did to it. The reason that straight hair can be curled after a permanent wave is because by wrapping the strand of hair tightly around a rod and then steaming and pressing it the hair is actually for the time being made flat, and so will act just like curly hair. As soon as the hair grows out, as everyone knows, the roots that have not been pressed flat are just as straight as ever.

I have gone into this rather in detail because some one is always telling me just what you have told me, or else insisting that wetting a child's hair, or something else equally futile will make it curly. It won't unless the child really has curly hair.

Mrs. F. L.—

I think it is quite true that in cold weather a child may dislike sitting on the stool because it is cold, and it is always wise to put some soft padding on it so that it is comfortable to sit on. But the reason that so many children dislike stools is because they are forced to sit on them, are pressed into them and held firmly by the adult, and all children and even babies, dislike being held down forcibly in any manner whatsoever. They respond to such treatment by crying and screaming and trying to get away. When the average mother knows more about child nature she will avoid doing the things which naturally anger a child.

I am sorry I cannot mention the food that you said helped so with the constipation, as this would come under the head of advertising. But any grain cereal would have acted the same way.

Conservative Current Events Club—Under the auspices of the Conservative Women's Current Events Club Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., will speak to an open meeting on June 15 at the Y.W.C.A. rooms at 8 o'clock. The subject of Mr. Hayward's address will be "Mental Hygiene." Mr. Hayward was one of the commission appointed by the Government to look into the situation in British Columbia, so will have much first-hand knowledge to impart on the subject. In addition a programme of fancy dancing by pupils of the Russian Ballet School of Dancing, also other numbers of vocal and instrumental character will add to the evening's pleasure. Mrs. James McOregor, president, will preside.

Success Now—every time

—the Certo way

THE difficulty in making jams and jellies has always been that fruits vary so much in the amount of jellying substance which they contain.

Even those you depend on most differ from year to year, and lose their jellying quality as they ripen. And very few fruits have enough jellying substance to jellify all of their juice. That is why you used to be obliged to boil half your fruit juice away before this jellying element was concentrated enough to jell the remaining juice.

But now—with Certo this is all changed.

For Certo, taken from fruits in which it is abundant, is the natural jellying substance, concentrated, highly refined and bottled for your convenient use.

With Certo delicious jam or jelly can be made with perfect success every time from any variety of fruit. Only one or two minutes' boiling is needed to give a firm, tender "set." The bright color of the fresh fruit is no longer darkened by long boiling and its delicate fresh flavor no longer drifts away in steam.

Perfect jam or jelly with only one or two minutes' boiling. Saves all the flavor and color of the fresh fruit.

Just bring your fruit or fruit juice and sugar to a boil, add Certo, boil hard one or two minutes, and it's ready to skim, pour and seal. Your grocer has Certo. A book of nearly 100 recipes under the label of each bottle.

MATSON'S FINE GETAWAY GIVES HIM CLUB TITLE

Defeats Art Beasley in Finals For Men's Championship at Oak Bay

Five-hole Lead Gained in First Nine Proves Margin of Victory, 5 and 3

Jack Matson won the men's championship of the Victoria Golf Club yesterday by defeating Art Beasley 5 and 3 in the thirty-six-hole finals.

A spectacular 33 on the first nine holes in the morning gave Matson the lead of five holes which he preserved until the end.

When they went to lunch at the end of the first eighteen Matson still held his five-hole advantage and they went along until the thirty-third hole when the match ended with Matson still five up.

HALVED THEIR WAY

Matson and Beasley, both southpaws and both former club and city champions, had a great fight after the first nine, and each had the hardest kind of time winning a hole. Most of the holes were halved.

Matson's 34 on the first nine, was one of the best scores ever made by an amateur over that distance. He played in faultless style. Beasley did not have the touch of his putter and required a 39.

The scores for the morning round were as follows:

Out—Matson ..... 534544423—34
Beasley ..... 545455434—39
In—Matson ..... 545434454—38—72
Beasley ..... 455344464—38—77

VICTORIA WINS SWIMMING MEET

Seattle Boys Defeated By Eleven Points in Inter-city Gala

Victoria swimmers succeeded in beating the Seattle men at the inter-city gala held at the Crystal Garden Saturday night, by a score of 69 to 58.

The local boys held the lead throughout the evening, except when the Sound City junior relay team romped home to add ten points to their total. However, this was soon overcome by the home contingent, which kept ahead for the rest of the night.

Tom Wellburn's win against Reid of Seattle in the 200 yards free style was the feature of the night's races. The visiting swimmer forced Tom all the way and only the B.C. champion's stamina at the finish gave him a lead over his rival.

In the diving Bob Buckley of the Seattle "Y" executed many fine dives, doing a cut-away-one-and-a-half, the like of which had never been seen before in the city.

All the junior events but the diving were carried off by Brydon-Jack's snappy Seattle youngsters, but in the senior contests Victoria was supreme with the exception of the back stroke.

The world's record went to Luigi Facelli of Italy, who won the 400-metre hurdle race in 53 4-5 seconds, tying the world's mark. Phil Taylor and Marion and Dick Wilson Will Seek P.N.W. Golf Laurels at Portland

Three Victorians will be among the starters in the Pacific Northwest open and amateur golf championships which will be played at Portland, Ore., on Friday and Saturday and all next week.

Marion Wilson, B.C. women's golf champion, and her brother Dick, will seek the amateur titles, while Phil Taylor, pro of the Victoria Golf Club, will be among those gunning for the open title. Phil won the P.N.W. open in Seattle in 1923. He left this afternoon for Portland to get in a few days' practice before the open starts on Friday.

This will be Miss Wilson's first appearance in a major tournament with a title on her brow. She won the B.C. women's title at Vancouver in April in convincing fashion. Her play at Portland next week will be watched with much interest.

Dick Wilson may take a fling at the open championship. He hopes to go quite a way in the amateur.

Two Vancouver professionals will go to Portland, Dave Black, the veteran of the Shaughnessy Golf Club, and Dune Sutherland, the new pro at the Point Grey Golf Club.

ESQUIMALT CUP TEAM WINS OVER DURBAN ELEVEN

Hosmer's High Lob Eludes Sailor Goalie and Dockers Win Soccer Game

Bluejackets Have Fine Team and Play Nice Game; Winners Come From Behind

Lobbing in a high shot that deceived Kerswell, in goal for the eleven from H.M.S. Durban, Don Hosmer, right half of the Esquimalt Connaught Cup football team, scored the deciding goal in the game at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. The sailors gained a one-goal lead at the interval but the Dockers came back strong in the second half to score two goals and finish the game with a 2-1 advantage.

The Durban's eleven proved a very finished squad. They played a similar game to the mining elevens from upisland. Their forwards were particularly good and a couple of lucky saves by Tommy Bridges, in goal for Esquimalt, robbed the bluejackets of goals.

The Durban boys scored the only goal for the first half when Dunlop headed through from a corner kick. The sailors had exerted considerable pressure and Esquimalt yielded three corners in a row. On the third kick from the flag the bluejackets scored.

The Durbans had the edge all through the first half. Esquimalt could not settle down when going in on the net and passed us some good chances to score.

In the second half Esquimalt scored enough goals to win the game, but they did not have a very decided edge in the run of the play. Both goals had some extremely close calls.

Scotty Robinson had a great chance to score, but Kerswell got his hands to the shot just in time and a moment later the goalie was again tested. The bluejackets went to the other end and Bridges rushed out and turned his back when McHardy shot. The ball struck Bridges and flew back into play. Right afterwards Taylor shot and Mesher, Esquimalt full back, tipped the ball with his head. By a lucky stab Bridges reached the ball and turned it over the bar. Bridges had to clear fast again from Dunlop and gave a corner.

Esquimalt then got a break with Mulcahy hustling along left wing with the ball at his toe. He crossed the ball right into the goal mouth and Bob Stewart rushed in and headed into the net for the tying goal.

THE WINNING GOAL

The teams battled along on even terms until Hosmer worked into position and lobbed a high shot. Kerswell, with the sun in his eyes, jumped a second too soon and the ball skimmed in under the bar as he was coming down.

It was the first defeat the Durban's all-star eleven had suffered for some time. The team won the championship of the China station.

Esquimalt were quite pleased over their win as it gave them confidence for their next match in the Connaught Cup series. The team has plenty of speed and a good back division.

The teams were as follows:

H.M.S. Durban — Kerswell; Proudfoot and Rees; Williams, Wood and Nash; Taylor, Darlingson, McHardy, Dunlop and Bryant.

Esquimalt — Bridges; Hood and Mesher; Hosmer, Peden and Boyd; Connerton, Stewart, Watt, Robinson and Mulcahy.

German Mermaid Claims a Record

Hildesheim, Germany, June 11.—Lotte Muehe, German Olympic entry, yesterday covered the 100-meters breast stroke swimming event in 1 minute 6 3-0 seconds, which is claimed to surpass world's record time.

Available record books show the accepted world's record for the 100 meters breast stroke swim for women is 1 minute 8 4-5 seconds, set in 1926 by Agnes Geraghty of the United States.

Victoria City Badly Beaten By Mainland Eleven

North Vancouver, June 11—The Victoria City eleven was no match for the reorganized North Vancouver team, and was eliminated in the first round of the Connaught Cup Dominion championship series, to the tune of a 7-1 score. Two thousand persons, a record for Mahan Park this year, saw Archibald score four of North Vancouver's goals; Jack Smith two, and Howden one. The score at half-time was 3-1, Tom Smith having scored Victoria's lone tally three minutes after the opening.

Vancouver, June 11—Westminster Royals, on their form against Ladysmith Saturday in the Dominion football series, will go a long way in the interprovincial rounds. They beat the Islanders handily 5-1.

TIM KEIST EARNS DRAW

Makes Good Showing Against Jackie Newman; Lewis and Albie Davies Win

Fighting in the main event of the Victoria Boxing Club's Saturday night show, Tim Keist of Victoria held Jackie Newman, clever colored fighter of Vancouver, to a draw in their four-round bout. A number of good preliminaries were witnessed and were well enjoyed by the large crowd of fans.

Keist put up a great fight in the last two rounds to earn a draw. Newman, who is fast and exceptionally clever, had the advantage in the first two rounds, but the last two were decidedly Keist's. Towards the close of the fight the two slugged it out but neither was able to get in a finishing blow.

The Lewis-Yelton fight was very short, the local boy obtaining a technical K.O. in the first round. At the start of the round Lewis dropped his man with a right hook to the jaw. The Vancouver fighter took the count of nine and, after getting up, took considerable punishment, the referee stopping the fight.

Albie Davies, who has been coming to the front with a rush, gained his sixth straight victory, at the expense of Dick Carter of Vancouver. Davies had the edge throughout the four rounds. The Vancouver boy took considerable punishment but he always came back for more.

In the heavyweight fight Ted Beales and Ernie Woodley fought to a draw. It was a real slugging match with both trying hard for a knockout. This fight drew plenty of applause from the spectators who enjoyed the slug-fest.

Jumbo Davies gained the decision from Art Manning of Vancouver in one of the preliminaries.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON

FRESCO THOMPSON
Philadelphia Nationals

There are only two ball players with the Philadelphia Phillies, to borrow that old vaudeville gag, and young Fresco Thompson is both of them. He is not only the one real ball player on that sad Philadelphia team but he is one of the most valuable ball players in the league. Barney Dreyfuss and John McGraw weep when they hear his name. For the Pirates and the Giants once had him, turned him loose and would have given great big dough to get him back. Pittsburgh had him in 1925 and released him outright to Buffalo. The Giants bought him from Buffalo and then shipped him to Philadelphia. That "Fresco" part of his name is not a nickname of Pacific Coast appellation. Fresco is a given name and he comes from Alabama. His nickname is Chick—and he is a nice fellow.

New Rochelle, N.Y., June 11.—Archie Compston, crack British professional, yesterday defeated Mike Brady, of the Wing Foot Golf Club, in an eighteen-hole exhibition match, 2 and 1. The match was played over the west course of the Wing Foot Club.

Cincinnati Shows No Sign of Falling As May Plasters Giants

Little Southpaw Lets McGraw's Club Down With Five Hits and Not One Man Reaches Third Base; St. Louis Slash Way to Overwhelming Win Over Brooklyn and Move Into Second Place; Yankees Lose Ninth Game of Season to Chicago Despite Ruth's Two Home Runs; Sam Gray Wins His Tenth Game by Beating Red Sox

Eastern scepties waiting for the Cincinnati Reds to fall are learning rapidly that it is more than luck that keeps Jack Hendrick's crew at the top of the National League standing. Good pitching, airtight ball, fielding in great style and timely hitting will win ball games in any league, and Hendrick's crew are doing just this.

Superlative pitching by Jakie May, southpaw of the Reds' mound staff, gave Cincinnati a 3-0 victory over the New York Giants yesterday.

Fully 40,000 fans saw May let the Giants down with five hits in the first game of the series to decide first place. The defeat sent the Giants to third place as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Brooklyn. Not a Giant runner reached third base.

TERRIFIC ATTACK

The Cards launched a terrific attack at Brooklyn to swamp the Robins by 15 to 7. A seven-run rally in the eighth inning after the Robins threatened to overtake the visitors, clinched the verdict. The victory put St. Louis back in second place.

Bissonette's eleventh homer of the year was the only bright spot in Brooklyn's defeat.

Babe Ruth smashed out two homers at Chicago, making his season's total 22, but the Yankees lost the opener to the downtrodden White Sox, 8 to 6, before 43,000 fans.

The Bambino's circuit clouts came with none on base in the fifth and ninth innings. He poled his first off the veteran, Urban Faber, who started for the White Sox, and his second off Ted Lyons, who saved the game for Chicago by his pitching and doubled in the eighth to start the winning tally.

Chicago used three pitchers and the Yankees two. Alex. Metzler shared honors with Lyons in the victory, driving in four runs with a double and two singles.

Detroit pounded Jack Quinn and Eddie Rommel for fifteen hits and won the opening game of the Detroit series with the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-3.

Before he retired Quinn yielded nine hits, which were converted into six runs. Singles by Goslin and Judge and an error by Jamieson gave Washington one run and victory in the ninth inning against Cleveland as the Cleveland series opened 6-5. Jamieson hit a homer inside the park with one on in the second inning.

TENTH FOR SAM GRAY

Pitcher Sam Gray won his tenth game in fourteen starts and the Browns to the St. Louis series opener from Boston in twelve innings, 2-1. Tait's circuit clout in the second scored Bosto's only run.

Kress's angle scored McNeely with the run that allowed St. Louis to win.

UPLANDS GOLF TEAM WIN OUT

Macaulay Golfers Play Close Matches But Lose Decision in Most Cases

Macaulay Point golfers had a fine team match at the Uplands Golf Club yesterday, and while they failed to gain many points they had the satisfaction of carrying most of the matches to the home hole. Many of the matches were decided on the last putt. This was particularly true of the feature match between Bob Morrison, Uplands champion, and Art Christopher, lead-off man of Macaulay. They teed off from the eighteenth all square, and Morrison won the hole by sinking his first putt, while Christopher required his second.

In the singles the visiting golfers gathered in only one match and halved three. In the fourball matches the Uplands made a clean sweep.

CAPITALS WIN PAIR OF GAMES

Dangerfield Pitches Locals to 11-6 Victory in First Game With Roche Harbor

Score 7-3 at Night; Hower Hits Homer While Webster Leads Local Sluggers

Two more victories were credited to the Victoria Capitals on Saturday when they took both games from the visiting Roche Harbor nine by 11-6 and 7-5 scores. The Caps played good ball, having an easy win in the first game, but the visitors put up a spirited fight in the second fixture.

Roche Harbor got away to a four-run lead in the first game by scoring two runs in the first inning and two more in the second. Blunt who started for the Caps made his exit in the second in favor of Jimmy Dangerfield, who finished the game. The Capitals got back on to an even footing in the second inning by scoring four runs.

In the fourth the locals went on another batting rampage checking home four more runners. Roche Harbor aded two more in the fifth, while the Caps finished their scoring in the sixth with three runs.

Thorlekson started pitching for Roche Harbor but was yanked in the fourth in favor of Hower. The second pitcher threw out his arm in the same inning and was forced to retire in favor of Lohman.

SECOND GAME GOOD

Play in the second game was good with Roche Harbor putting up a better exhibition.

The Capitals took the lead in the first inning when they scored three runs. Roche Harbor scored one in the second while the Caps also added one.

Roche Harbor tied up the count in the third when with two men on the bags Hower landed on one of Driver's fast ones to send it over the centre field fence. Driver was chased to the showers in this inning in favor of Jack Curtis.

The Capitals obtained the lead again in their half of the third by driving in one runner. The locals got two more in the sixth. Roche Harbor also scoring their fifth in that inning.

Lohman who started on the mound for the visitors was yanked in the first inning, his place being taken by Thorlekson, who pitched a good game.

Art Webster, playing his first game this season, led the local sluggers in the two games, with five hits out of eight trips to the plate, including a three-bagger and three doubles.

RUTH IS WEEK AHEAD OF TIME

Two Home Runs Yesterday Give Him Big Lead on His Schedule to Break Record

New York, June 11—Babe Ruth's two home runs in Chicago yesterday failed to win for the Yanks, but gave the Babe a little more leeway in his battle to remain ahead of his record pace last year when he hit sixty homers for a new world's mark. The champion slugger to-day was six games, six days and four home runs ahead of his 1927 standing.

On this date last year he had eighteen homers against his current twenty-two and failed to get his twenty-second until June 16, his fifty-fourth engagement of the 1927 campaign. The game yesterday in Chicago was only his forty-[illegible]

Each of Ruth's drives yesterday was hit with the bases empty.

BLOWHORN WINS THRILLING RACE

Mrs. Petzoldt's Mare Takes Final Event at Calgary Spring Meeting

Calgary, June 11—As a fitting climax to the six days' Spring meeting at the Chinook Jockey Club Saturday afternoon, Blowhorn, a five-year-old chestnut mare, owned by Mrs. Eldon Petzoldt, won the seventh and final race.

It was a brilliant victory in the most thrilling event of the week, being featured by a sensational stretch run in which Blowhorn got the decision over Billy Walz by half a length in the endurance test of one mile and one-eighth. It was the longest race of the week's sport and certainly the most enthusiastic so far as the fans were concerned, as the decision was in doubt until the last jump or two.

A mild surprise was sprung in the Service Club's Handicap, the fifth and feature race, when Shasta Rabbi beat out Hong King of the Stone entry.

The best price was paid by Shoshine, which won the second race and paid $77.70.

The results were as follows:

First race, purse $500, three-year-olds and up, five and one-half furlongs—1, Frank Allen (Mantz), $5.65, $3.40, $2.95; 2, Goldsborough, $5.60, $3.10; 3, Willsome, $7.05. Time, 1.19. Also ran Miss Peggy, Docile, Sincoe, Manxman, Audrey Y.

TALAYAHA IS LEADING SLOOP

In First Six Days of Race to Honolulu Vessel Covers 887 Miles

Los Angeles, June 11—The sloop Talayaha reported to the Associated Press, through amateur station 6DQO that in the first days at sea in the race to Honolulu she covered 887 miles, a creditable distance considering the light and paltry airs encountered the first four days out.

At noon Saturday the yacht's position was latitude 26.10 north and longitude 131:48 west. Her log from noon Friday to noon Saturday showed 163 miles, and she was slipping through the waters of the Pacific Saturday night in true Northeast trades at about ten knots an hour.

"Past records show that in her log of Sunday the Talayaha is forty miles north of the track made by the Lurline in winning the 1912 Honolulu classic, twenty miles north of the course of the Mariner in 1923, and seventy miles north of the Invader's course in winning the 1926 race," the yacht reported.

H. Ogden, operator aboard the Talayaha said that no word had been received of the positions of the five other yachts in the race, the Pandora, Teva, Wetona, Mollilou and Aafje.

Stars of "What Price Glory?" Appear in Dominion Feature

"Loves of Carmen" Is Title of Screen Showing This Week; Musical Programme To-night Features Crystal Garden Orchestra, With George Aylett on Banjo, Playing All Week

In the pictures, as elsewhere, history repeats itself. This occurred here today at the Dominion Theatre, with the initial showing of the new Fox picture, "Loves of Carmen," featuring Dolores Del Rio and Victor McLaglen. The production was directed by Raoul Walsh.

Miss Del Rio and Victor McLaglen, who are remembered for their crowning achievements in "What Price Glory," repeated their success over again, although the roles are far removed from those in the screen interpretation of Laurence Stalling's stage play.

There isn't a loose spot in this whole picture. Director Walsh has aimed for realism and as a result he has faithfully reproduced the romance and color of Spain. In order to do it, he sent investigators abroad.

Victor McLaglen, as a matador, is as striking as he was in "What Price Glory," as a hard-boiled army captain. Miss Del Rio, as Carmen, is equally effective as she was in the role of Charmaine.

Don Alvarada, the noted Spanish player, appears as Jose. In the supporting cast are Nancy Nash, Rafael Valverde, Mathilde Comont, Jack Bastian, Carmen Costello and Fred Kohler.

The Crystal Garden Orchestra, under the direction of William Tickle, will present another of their entertaining programmes to-night at nine o'clock. Their programme will include the latest fox trot novelty "Coquette"; "A Lane in Spain"; "Felix Fox Trot" and selections from "Carmen.

George Aylett, the wizard of the strings, is the stage musical attraction at the Dominion this week. His banjo playing is extraordinary. He is a good all-round musician and equally at home while playing on any of the various stringed instruments. His selections are from the latest popular hits. He will play every afternoon and evening during the week.

Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. "Moon of Israel" Is Masterpiece At the Columbia

Exodus of Jews From Egypt Is Dealt With in Screen Love Story

Few pictures have caused a greater sensation than "Moon of Israel," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre. This picture deals with the Exodus of the Jews from Egypt, and at the same time with one of the mightest love stories that has graced the screen.

The story is an adaptation of the novel by Sir H. Rider Haggard and is thrilling and intensely interesting. Screened among the ruins of the mighty towers of a buried Egyptian city, it brings back the passionate days of ten thousand years ago. Days that held happenings that are impossible to-day, but which thrill and please as no others can.

Michael Curtiz directed the picture and produced a masterpiece that will always be remembered as one of the truly great films. The cast, which is generally excellent, includes Maria Corda, Arlette Marchal, Adelqui Millar, Henry Mar and Ferdinand Onna. Ladislaus Vadja, the Hungarian novelist and playwright, adapted the novel for the screen.

Tribute Paid To Martyrs of Empire In Coliseum Story

Cameo scenes of the tragic yet glorious deaths of British heroes are a feature of "Land of Hope and Glory," showing at the Coliseum this week. They are at once accurate reconstructions of outstanding events in our history and a screen tribute to the spirit of self-sacrifice which has played so large a part in the creation of the Empire.

The last phase of Capt. Scott's great Antarctic adventure, the death of General Wolfe in the moment of victory at Quebec, the death of Nelson in the cockpit of the Victory at Trafalgar, are among the episodes selected; and the great navigator, Capt. Cook, is seen planting the flag in Australia.

As they appear in the film, these episodes are the visualization of the thoughts of the hero—the discouraged inventor of a super-aeroplane which the Government will not take up, though foreign powers are anxious to buy the plans—as he contemplates the London statues of great men of the past. For the preliminary scenes the statues of Capt. Scott in Waterloo Place, of Capt. Cook at the Admiralty Arch, and of the Nelson Column were "shot" by official permission.

Cumberland School Trustees in Session

Cumberland, June 11.—The June meeting of the Board of School Trustees was held on Thursday. Leave of absence was granted to Miss Genevieve McFadyen for one week, and the resignation of Miss Ethel Till, Home Economics department, was accepted. A communication was read with reference to Dr. Thompson, who is visiting various schools on the Island, lecturing to parents on hygiene subjects, stating that he was scheduled to reach Cumberland on June 19. A motion was passed putting the school at Dr. Thompson's disposal on the date in question.

A communication was received from the Superintendent of Education, with reference to the recent request of the board that the department assist in meeting the deficit in the 1928 estimates. The department stated that since no definite figures could be quoted on the deficit at the present time no definite promises could be made, but the Cumberland Board of School Trustees could rest assured that the department would be as generous as possible.

Reports were received and read from the high schools and the public schools. Among the items mentioned in the letter, was the recent part taken by the Cumberland School Choir in the Upper Island musical festival, thanks being due to C. J. Parnham, Mrs. Robinson, and to those who kindly put their cars at the disposal of the competitors. Comment was also made on Cumberland's recent showing in the school sports, and a report of the dance held on the evening of June 1 in aid of the tennis court funds gave the proceeds of the affair as $104.05 net. Thanks are due in this connection to the Melody Four orchestra, E. W. Bickle, the committee of teachers and pupils, and to the general public for their generous support. The report also contained the suggestion that since the teachers and pupils had raised over $200 of the $350 necessary for the construction of the tennis court, work should be commenced on it during the Summer vacation, and the teaching staff and pupils would pledge themselves to raise the balance next Fall, thereby assuming the whole cost of construction and relieving the board of trustees of their former agreement to pay $150 towards construction, on condition that the board assume responsibility for the carrying out of the project. A committee composed of Trustee McKinnon, Trustee Henderson and W. McLellan, janitor, was appointed to obtain all data on the matter and lay same before the board at the special meeting to be held in the last week in June.

Principal Apps recommended the purchase of certain maps on geography and history, ancient and modern, which were displayed here recently by the representative of the McConnell Map Company, who was in town recently. After some discussion the matter was left over till next term, when it may be possible to include the maps in the regular requisitions for supplies.

Trustee Henderson brought before the board the practice which has recently been going on of selling picture show tickets on the school premises and distributing advertising matter. A resolution was passed prohibiting the distribution of any advertising matter on the school premises.

The committee appointed to report on Inspector Patterson's recent recommendation of kindergarten chairs and tables instead of desks in the primary divisions, stated that the school possessed sufficient suitable tables, but advised the purchase of forty chairs. Tenders will be asked for the usual supply of ten cords of wood for next school term.

A very satisfactory report on the High School was read from Inspector A. Sullivan, who reported conditions and work of teachers excellent.

Trustee McNaughton brought before the board the suggestion that more time should be given to singing in the school. C. J. Parnham, organist of the United Church, has offered his services after school hours in supervising singing. Trustee McNaughton's suggestion was received favorably and laid over for a thorough discussion at a later date.

An animated discussion arose in connection with the canvassing of donations for the recent school sports from the school children, Trustee Henderson being of the opinion that children should not be sent home to ask for money to finance any object of that nature. He also objected to the practice of rewarding the children with extra play time for the room bringing in the highest percentage in such schemes.

Passion Play This Week Is Playhouse Film

Famous Biblical Pageant of Oberammergau Reproduced on Screen

The teachings of Christ, the sacrifices that He made, and His most agonizing ordeal when He carries the Cross of the world to Calvary, are more vividly portrayed than could possibly be done through the written word in the "Passion Play," at the Playhouse this week.

The transfiguration; the raising of the dead; the healing of the sick, maimed and blind; the entrance to Jerusalem on Palm Sunday, His baptism; John the Babtist, Joseph's and Mary's flight from King Herod and how they were guarded by the Divine throughout their journey, are all scenes that go to make this wonderful story an even more wonderful picture.

All of the Biblical and historical incidents are richly done with considerable nicety of feeling.

The artistry, photography, perfectness of the coloring and continuity of the scenes from the life of Christ make the "Passion Play" a picture that should not be missed. The film will be shown at the Playhouse from June 12 to 16.

Edmund Lowe In Leading Role At Variety Theatre

"Is Zat So?" Is Hilarous Comedy Feature Showing This Week

From "What Price Glory," an epic war film, to "Is Zat So?" a hilarious drama, is the transition made by Edmund Lowe, the tough marine of the battle film and the equally tough prize-fighter's manager of the comedy. But here the resemblance ends for instead of the natty uniform of Sergeant Quirt, Lowe in the latter picture wears the flashy clothes, trick haircut and wise manners of a habitute of the prize ring.

George O'Brien is the pugilist whom he manages and he has his troubles doing it, but those who have seen "Is Zat So?", which is showing at the Variety Theatre to-day, say that while Lowe has his troubles the audience has its laughs.

Kathryn Perry, Cyril Chadwick, Doris Lloyd, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Philippe DeLacy have important roles in this picture.

Huge Preparation for Film "Les Miserables" at Capitol

Three Paris Streets Reconstructed for Filming of Picture Showing Here All This Week; Vaudeville Bill Is Attractive, With Fanchon and Marco Artists Starring

The building of the sets for "Les Miserables," Universal-Film de France production, which plays at the Capitol Theatre this week, was a gigantic undertaking.

Three big streets in Paris—the Rue St. Denis, Rue des Chanvriers and the Rue Montedour — with their shops, stalls, grocery stores, coopers' sheds, hairdressing establishments and large cafe, The Corinthe, were reconstructed exactly as they were about 1830. In the Rue des Chanvriers were heaped-up pavingstones piled on shutters which the rebels had torn from inside windows, barrels from a neighboring shed, ladders and articles of furniture which the people had thrown from the tops of houses, all forming a barricade. In the midst of this were ammunitions, barrels of powder, and further along, an overturned vehicle.

At the officers' command thousands of soldiers pass through the barricades, while the red flags flap in the wind against the placards on which the insurgents have written, "Death to the tyrant!" The rebels, proud and scornful of death, face the soldiers who force them to retreat. Here are Enjolras, the moving spirit of the A. B. C., Gavroche, who amused himself during the whole of this drama, and Marius, the lover.

On the stage at the Capitol Theatre this week are Elsie Broche, a soprano soloist, in song selctions, Fred Gannon, the musical tramp, in a novelty presentation, and the Cook Sisters, star dancers, musicians and soloists, from Fanchon and Marco's great "Russian Revels" innovation. The Cook Sisters will offer a special singing, dancing and instrumental presentation. Harold Bechtel and the Capitol Orchestra will complete the fine bill of vaudeville.

Ideal tennis weather brought out a large number of enthusiasts on Wednesday, and there was a gratifying attendance at the weekly tea, which was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Graham, joint hostess with Miss Christine McKinnon. A good sum was realized which will go toward the deficit in the club's finances.

Cumberland's new fire siren roused the echoes for the first time since it was installed and demonstrated, when it blew for a roof blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston, on Penrith Avenue.

Much regret is expressed in Cumberland over the news of the death of Mrs. Norma Fagan, of Victoria, wife of P. S. Fagan, paymaster of the Canadian Collieries Limited. Mr. Fagan and family were former residents of Cumberland, leaving this city some ten years ago when the head offices of the collieries were moved to Victoria.

A pretty wedding took place at Union Bay on June 2, when Miss Margaret Glover, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Glover of Union Bay, became the bride of Mr. Walter Franklin Matthews of Seattle. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Herbert Glover, was gowned in white satin and Maltese lace, while she wore the conventional wedding veil caught with a coronet of orange blossoms and pearls. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses and white carnations. Attending her were Miss Winnifred Bowden and Mrs. W. P. Lund, sister of the bride. The former wore a gown of orchid georgette with picture hat to match, while the latter wore rose beige georgette with hat en suite, and both carried bouquets of rosebuds, aquilegia and carnations.

The groom was supported by his brother-in-law, Mr. Kenneth Glen of Victoria. Mr. Henry Glover, uncle of the bride, played the wedding march, and during the signing of the register Mr. Frank Irving of Victoria, brother-in-law of the groom, sang "Until."

The church was beautifully decorated by friends of the bride, the ceremony taking place under an arch of orange blossoms and white hawthorne. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Miss Glover was a graduate of the Royal Jubilee Hospital nursing class of 1927, and Mr. Matthews was formerly a member of the Canadian Air Force. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews are spending their honeymoon touring the island, and visiting Vancouver and other points on the Mainland, and will make their future home in Seattle. For travelling the bride wore a yellow georgette gown, silk broadcloth coat in beige and a small hat of orchid flowers.

A charming wedding took place on June 2 at the United Church, Qualicum Beach, when Miss Rena Little of Cumberland became the bride of Mr. George Parker of Qualicum Beach. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, ferns and foliage. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of white crepe de Chine trimmed with seed pearls, while she wore the conventional wedding veil and coronet of orange blossoms. Mrs. Evans, the matron of honor, wore a pretty costume of cornflower blue crepe de Chine with hat to match. Mr. Fred Rocket supported the groom. Mr. C. A. White presided at the organ and the Rev. A. Wiseman performed the ceremony. A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Parker, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. A. Grant, Mrs. B. Grant, Mrs. Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, Mr. Little and Mr. S. Little of Cumberland, Rev. and Mrs. Wiseman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker, Mrs. J. Smythe, Mr. and Mrs. Dougan, Mrs. C. A. White, Mrs. F. H. Gillman, Miss Vera Gilman. "GOD, PRESERVER" SERMON SUBJECT

Universal Theme in All Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday

The subject of the Bible lesson-sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday, was "God The Preserver of Man."

One of the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation: There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwellings" (Psalms xci, 9, 10.)

Among the correlative selections from the denominational text book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, was the following from page 387: "The history of Christanity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestomed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering."

AIR CONNECTION HELPS PICTURES

Alfred Hustwick States Benefit of Quick Connection With Hollywood

Aeroplane travel between Hollywood and Victoria would not only become possible, but would be a much needed means of transportation in connection with the motion picture developments here, it was stated to-day by Alfred Hustwick, organizer of the Pacific Pictures Limited, now planning an active start on the organization of the Victoria film venture. The announcement that the Victoria-Seattle branch of the triangular air service by the Western Canada Airways would start on July 1 was received by Mr. Hustwick with enthusiasm.

"Aeroplane connection with Seattle of vital importance to a motion picture producer operating a studio in Victoria," says Mr. Hustwick. "It will complete the last link in the chain which binds this city to the vast storehouse of motion picture equipment in Hollywood, making it possible for a producer to telephone to his agent in that city to-day and have his order landed in Victoria in from twenty-four to thirty-six hours. The technical equipment of a camera department or laboratory is always subject to derangement and, while ordinary repairs may be made in the studio machine rooms, replacements must come from across the line.

"Costumes, properties and other materials that cannot be obtained in British Columbia can, on a pinch, be rushed here by plane. High-salaried actors, available between Hollywood engagements, can be brought here and returned by aircraft, thus, reducing salary costs and enabling them to fulfill outstanding contracts without loss of time to any other producer.

"Hollywood producers have, for a long time past, used air transportation to cut costs. Directors who are hunting for locations can cover more ground in a couple of days than they could get over in a week by automobile or train. Rush prints of pictures are delivered in New York in less than two days. Companies on location receive replacements of equipment or personnel in a few hours.

"Aeroplane connection with Hollywood will make Victoria practically a near 'location' from a motion picture standpoint, and will give a local studio an enormous advantage over any other studio in the Empire, since it will have all of Hollywood's resources on the end of a telephone or telegraph, with quick deliveries assured," concluded Mr. Hutwick.

Typhoid Fever Deaths Decrease

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The Journal of the American Medical Association has just made available its annual report on deaths from typhoid fever in the large cities of the United States.

The death rates from typhoid fever are an index to the sanitation of the community, particularly as relating to food supply, water supply, and the disposal of sewage.

Eighty-one cities in the United States of more than 100,000 population are concerned in the annual summary. The New England cities are particularly free from typhoid fever, New Haven and Springfield, in 1927, being without a single typhoid death.

EXAMINATION FOR CARRIERS

In Providence, R.I., a child two months of age died of typhoid fever. Its father had had typhoid two years before and the mother and two other children were found to be typhoid carriers. The typhoid carrier is a menace to every healthful person in the community. After a case of typhoid fever occurs in a family, other members should be examined and if a carrier is found, proper scientific measures should be taken to rid him or her of the bacteria.

Paterson, N.J., and Yonkers were without a typhoid death in 1927. For Yonkers, it was the second consecutive year without a typhoid death and the fourth such year in its history. Yonkers is the only large city in the United States with such a record.

Richmond, V., had no typhoid deaths in 1927. Canton, Ohio, and Kansas City, Kansas, are also on this honor roll. Seven cities, therefore, out of eighty-one had clear records—the largest number in any single year since 1913.

BRITAIN'S RECORD

In Great Britain out of forty-eight large cities, fifteen did not have a single typhoid fever death in 1924, showing that there is still room for improvement in American conditions. Nevertheless, the total typhoid fever rate for seventy-four of the large cities of the United States during 1927 was under two per 100,000 of population. This is the lowest rate ever reached in the history of the country.

The rate shows a steady decline since 1910 from 20.58 per 100,000 population to 1.96 in 1927. If the 1910 typhoid death rate still prevailed in the United States, there would have been 66,292 more deaths from typhoid last year than actually occurred.

Langford, June 11.—All parents of children attending the public school are asked to attend an important meeting at 3.30 this afternoon.

Rev. Cecil Cherry, from Winnipeg, is taking a vacation, visiting his father, H. Cherry, of Atkins Road.

Mrs. J. P. Mair of Thetis Island is visiting friends in Langford before leaving for England and Kenya Colony.

Langford, June 11.—Miss Helen Newberry, who has been away for a few days' vacation, has returned to her home on the Dunford Road.

Mrs. John Gregg and little daughter have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. Jolley of Millstream Lodge.

There was a good attendance of members present at the June meeting of the St. Matthew's Guild, held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. A. Hincks. An invitation to visit the Palm Ice Cream store was accepted for Thursday, June 14. The members decided not to hold their regular meetings during July and August. Mrs. E. Goucher kindly offered her home for a silver tea and garden fete in July.

Pancywork was given out to the members to be worked through the Summer months. At the conclusion of the business tea was served by the hostess.

The usual Saturday-night dance will be held at Langford Lakeside.

S. E. Sellens of Station Road, was the fortunate winner of the gold watch drawn for at the Prince Edward Branch No. 91, Canadian Legion's dance at Langford Lakeside Wednesday night.

The first dancing class for adults was held on Thursday night at Langford Lakeside. Another class will be held June 14.

NEW SALVAGE BOAT LAUNCHED

Vancouver, June 11.—A practically unsinkable salvage boat was launched Thursday at the North Vancouver yards of the Vancouver Drydock & Salvage Co. Limited. The vessel's entire bottom will have to be ripped open before she will sink, as she is protected by four watertight bulkheads, and her decks are so constructed that she is almost in the class of a submarine.

Three judges are hearing the appeal, Mr. Justice Martin presiding, with Mr. Justice Galliher and Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald.

Hearing proceeded this morning with E. C. Mayers for the appellants, and J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., for the respondents. Mr. Mayers, in resuming argument, cited a number of references as to what was the status of a contractor who had been refused a final certificate for work done. Criminal appeals are to follow the case at bar.

PERSONALITY IN BIG MEN

Dr. Davies Speaks to Gyros; President Trevitt Attends International Convention

Back of all great periods of history stand men of personality declared Rev. Dr. Clem Davies, in an address on "Personality" before the Gyro Club today.

Dr. Davies contended that personality was not material prosperity or commercial success nor did it result from fame, notoriety or popular reputation. A splendid physique did not make for personality nor did the question of of health enter into it as men like Robert Louis Stevenson never had an hour without pain. A pleasant of attractive smile did not make personality nor did a man's social standing measure it.

A superabundance of intellectual life, intensity of convention and deep feelings and emotion made for personality.

"Personality is everything," commented Dr. Davies," and the driving force of personality is within you. Develop it."

GOES TO CONVENTION

Arnold W. Trevitt, president of the Gyro Club, was elected as the delegate to the international convention of the Gyro Club at Syracuse, N.Y., next month.

Gyro Harry Dawson reported on the success which attended the presentation of the Westminster Glee Singers. In addition to providing a great musical treat for the city the concerts had resulted in the club deriving considerable financial benefit.

HOUSEHOLDER COMPLAINS OF CATERPILLARS

Twelve caterpillars squelched to death in a bedroom, a double handful scooped off the dining-room table, and a sinuous and crawling procession in the gutters of the roof of her home, led to distress calls on the city to-day by a Victoria resident who said that the pests were driving her distracted. Every leaf of nearby trees had been eaten by caterpillars, and the vast army was marching steadily forward against all defences, the city was told. Short of summoning the fire brigade to wash down the gutters, no immediate form of relief could be thought of by officials at the City Hall to-day, though the nuisance created by the pests was admitted.

CITY MANAGER PLAN UP AGAIN

Civic Service Committee Recommend Enlargement of Comptroller's Duties

Argument, on Alderman William Marchant's plan of making the City Comptroller also a City Manager may be proceeded with by the City Council to-night. The recommendation is part of a report by the civic service committee, which would create the new office out of the existing staff at the City Hall.

A routine agenda of business will be laid before the council, including final action on the permanent zoning by-law; progress certificates in the elevator contract; and other routine affairs. The Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee are asking for the payment of the usual grant by the city, namely $3,333, in aid of their 1928 budget.

MARKETING TO BE EXPLAINED

W. A. Landreth Will Address Meeting at Chamber of Commerce

Not merely the poultry question, but also marketing problems will be dealt with by W. A. Landreth, president of the Manitoba Egg and Poultry Pool, and president of the Canadian Egg and Poultry Pool, in his address to be delivered at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, under the auspices of the Agricultural Committee to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock.

As president of two of the largest organizations in that line and also as a member of the Manitobba Co-operative Marketing Board, Mr. Landreth has a great deal of knowledge on the subject, and his address should be of great value to those interested in the marketing of produce co-operatively. The speaker has given several addresses on this theme in the Province.

STOCK MARKETS — FINANCIAL NEWS — GRAIN MARKETS

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, June 11.—The wheat market was dull and rather featureless to-day with business extremely small and very little in the way of export buying. The prices declined about 1¼ cents during the first period due to the lack of buying and to the fact that Liverpool was weaker than expected. On this break there was a little buying by seaboard houses, which firmed prices, earlier losses being regained, but the market again eased off as the buying did not follow up the upturns.

Export business over the week-end was reported as being very small, being confined to a few odd loads, worked by the pool. The demand for cash wheat was also quite moderate, and reflected only a small business. There was no particular pressure on the market offerings, being light and spreads were mostly unchanged, but fractionally lower one on or two grades.

Crop conditions in this country continue excellent, with further light showers again having been received over most areas with cool temperatures. Some rains were also reported in the South, which will be of benefit. The Canadian visible decreased 2,272,000 bushels. Look for a trading market, but believe July wheat can be bought on the dips.

Coars grains: These markets continued dather quiet again to-day. There was a fair domestic demand for oats and some inquiry for rye, but business actually worked was very small. There was very little in the barley, but offerings continue small, in fact there is no selling pressure in oats, barley or rye. Oats closed ¼ lower to unchanged. Barley unchanged to ¼ lower and Rye ⅝ to ⅛ lower.

Flax: No feature, very small trade passing. Closing figures ¼ to ¾ lower.

Chicago, June 11.—Wheat: In January we pointed out that exports during the last six months of the crop year would probably fall below the figures of a year ago, possibly bringing a total exports for the year below the previous years totals. The department of commerce reports up to June 2, indicate that wheat exports have fallen about 9½ million below last year while flour exports have been 665,000 barrels less. At the same time we have imported from Canada to grind in bond nearly 15½ million bushels as against about 12¾ million bushels last year.

These figures indicate net exports up to June 2, of less than 180,000,000 bushels wheat and flour and it is not likely that for the crop year net exports may fall 20,000,000 bushels below figures for the previous year.

New wheat is beginning to move little from southern territory. Spring wheat territory continues to send pessimistic reports and low condition and unfavorable promise is being voiced by our Mr. Cromwell. Prospects gradually improve toward the Canadian line as a result of recent moisture.

Corn—The visible supply is nearly 9,000,000 bushels less than last year and of the total of 23,250,000 bushels, Chicago holds about forty per cent.

Current receipts at all markets are picking up again. With decrease in oats stocks of nearly 1,000,000 bushels the past total supplies are down to about six million, of which half is in Chicago.

The feed grain situation until new corn is available may quite likely become acute.

WHITNEY LETTER

New York, June 11 (By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says to-day:

"The market of Saturday, in combination with whatever additional liquidation brought in to-day, and I believe this will be finished in the first two hours, brings to a close the reaction which has been running practically all week.

"While we have not been particularly successful in putting our finger on the exact day that this market would turn in this particular instance, we may now consider that the reaction is definitely ninety per cent over, that political fears will give way to political confidence as it becomes more and more apparent that Coolidge will be nominated and elected, and that it will be gradually realized that the banking element does not regard brokers' loans as too high, but that they simply have considered that the rise has been too rapid, and to that extent have not sought to break the market, but simply to put on the brakes.

"As far as the market itself is concerned, I believe the performance of Saturday, and what carryover of this performance we will get this morning, will complete the breaking through of resistance points and the bringing out of volume, which are invariably necessary to complete a reaction, and I believe that before the day is very old we will witness the getting under way of what will later prove to be a good advance. In addition to this, I believe this advance will assume a character of rather gratifying nature, in that the recognized leaders will come to the front, as a reflection of the fact that their recent decline has brought them to prices that represent distinct opportunities to any number of the country's well conducted investment trusts, which came back into the market Saturday.

"Use any addition one to two point dips to take positions in Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas, American Smelting, Sears Roebuck, American Can, Central Motors, Yellow Truck, Allied Chemical, Anaconda, Missouri Pacific, Canadian Pacific, and other sound leaders, and last but not least, Steel."

Money and Politics Hit Bond Market

New York, June 11.—The bond market was irregular in quiet trading to-day. Slight easing of money rates encouraged some buying, but the atmosphere of hesitancy, which market observers are prone to ascribe to "money and politics" was reflected in the small volume of trading.

Some U.S. Government bonds were firmer, notably the Liberty Third 4¼ of 1928, but the gain was small. Secretary Mellon has invited tender of $125,000,000 of this issue at 100 3-32 and interest, the offer being open until June 19.

Copper showed little change. Dodge Brothers debentures 6s, Bethlehem Steel converitble 6s, and Houston Bay and Terminal 5s were firmer, the latter advancing more than a point. A few utilities made small gains.

St. Paul 5s, Minneapolis and St. Louis 5s and St. Louis-Southwestern 5s advanced, but most railroad issues were inclined to heaviness.

The foreign list was strong.

Wall Street To-day

(By B.C. Bond Corporation's Leased Wire)

N. Y. STOCKS BREAK FAST

New York, June 11.—The Evening edition of The Wall Street Journal says: Selling to-day which was quite persistent from the opening until the close had many of the ear-marks of real liquidation and the speculative community gave the idea that attributing weakness to tactics of bearish speculators. Offerings of standard issues were quite heavy at the opening after these were absorved the market became very quiet, tried to rally around mid-day, but recoveries were feeble and carried with them little or no conviction. In the afternoon when call money became scarcer and advanced to 6 per cent after a renewal rate of 5½ per cent another wave of selling swept the list.

The active stocks at the close were at or near the low point of the day. Traders talked about possible developments at Kansas City and there were a few who still clung to the hope that President Coolidge might be prevailed upon to accept renomination, but the majority placed little reliance in such a development.

Chicago dispatches quoted chairman Reynolds of the continental National Bank as saying that money conditions in that district fully warranted a rediscount rate above the existing 4½ per cent. These remarks added to the uneasiness over the credit outlook, and undoubtedly influenced some liquidation.

Banks called about $10,000,000 loans. During the day little real fresh news which might have a bearing on the market made an appearance, but it was quite obvious that the feeble and unconvincing attempts at recovery were increasing the disposition to sell long stocks.

Montreal Stocks

By B.C. Bond Corporation Direct Wire

Montreal, June 11.—In the first hour of trading on the Montreal stock market this morning nearly all issues touched new low levels for the movement, but the absorption power proved excellent and in the last half hour most of the losses were practically wiped out.

The most remarkable performance was that of Brazilian. Selling orders at the opening carried the price down only one point to 53 and at the end of the session it was changing hands at 54⅜, a net gain of 1⅜. Shawinigan first dropped four to 91 and then made up nearly all of its loss, touching a high of 94¾ and closing at 94½. Quebec Power finished 2½ off at 87½ after declining to 85. Power Corporation eased off to 73 and closed unchanged from the previous close at 75. Winnipeg Electric broke eight points to 107 and its final price of 112 showed a net loss of only three points. Montreal Power declined one point to 103.

Even in the pulp and paper group, where the main cause of the present weakness is to be found, some recoveries were registered. Fraser from a low of 60 improved to 91½, rallied to 94 and eased off again to 92, down one point. Abitibi, which touched a low of 59 in Wall Street, did not fall below 60½ locally and the final quotation was 61, a decline of half a point. Brompton broke five to 44½ and finished with a net loss of ½ at 49. Canada Power lost 1½ to 36, rallied to 37 and closed at 36¾. Port Alfred touched a low of 89 and its final price of 89¼ showed decline of 4½ from Saturday. Lyall gave a good account of itself, closing one up at 68 after declining to 63 at the opening. International Nickel closed with a gain of one point at 93½ as compared with a low of 91½. Steel of Canada dropped 5 to 195 and made up over half its loss, closing at 196. Alcohol touched a low of 40¾ and firmed up to 42½. Bridge closed 2¾ up at 85, and Breweries was unchanged.

Way Cleared For Direct Shipment Of Strawberries

Following efforts of P. B. Fowler, president of the Chamber of Commerce, arrangements have been made by the Canadian-Australasian Steamship Line to pick up strawberries destined for Australasian points at this port, according to word received here to-day.

Saanich fruitgrowers are attempting to open up a new line of trade with New Zealand, and propose a test shipment of five tons of strawberries. As a result of this decision, Mr. Folwler took action on the matter when it was learned that the steamship line was unable to pick the shipment up at this port on the outward trip.

TO LOAD HERE

Under arrangements made by the line, the berries will be placed aboard steamers when they call here on the inward voyage, and will be kept in cold stroge while the vessels are in Vancouver. As the ships stay only a little over four days in the mainland port before starting the return trip to Australia and New Zealand, little harm is expected to the berries under these conditions.

Previously it would have been necessary to tranship the Island berries across the gulf to Vancouver for stowage in the steamer holds.

A substanital market will be established in New Zealand for Saanich and Island berries, it is anticipated, if the test shipment is successful. Island berries are said to have a firmer texture with less water content than those on the mainland and, with careful packing and protection during the sea voyage, are expected to arrive on the New Zealand market in good condition.

CALGARY OIL GOSSIP

Calgary, June 11 (By Branson-Brown).—McDougall No. 2 casing is at 2,735 feet; No. 3 is drilling to-day around 2,100 feet.

Home Oil No. 3 struck a flow of wet gas on Saturday measured at 7,500,000 feet. The strike was made at 2,225 feet, while still in the Dakota formation. It is the largest flow of gas in Dakota sand, the average flow in Dakota being about 250,000 feet of gas for this depth.

Calgary, June 11 (By R. F. Castle Leased Wire).—Mayland manager reports that at 1,940 feet they drilled through a strata of gray sand which is one of the reliable markers thot the geologists look for in checking up on the formations of the Turner Valley. The Home well crossed this mark at 2,220 feet. Mayland now seems assured of getting production in the Dakotas at 2,380 feet, or in about the days' time.

Home No. 3 reports a strike of 7,500,000 feet wet gas at 2,225 feet. Mayland should get the same results at 2,200 feet. The drillers are making record time for a good straight drill, and we recommand the purchase of this stock at present market prices, as it looks like a good speculation of $2 a share in 10 to 15 days' time.

GOLCONDA RISES AS OTHERS DROP

Vancouver, June 11 (By R. F. Castle Leased Wire)—The local market followed in line with the East and weakened considerably. Nearly every stock in Toronto showed a loss and the same applied to Vancouver. Big Missouri opened at 58 but sold back at the close to Saturday's price to 59. Cork Province weakened a point and one half to 30, this was surprising.

Golconda was one of the few stocks that showed a gleam of brightness in an otherwise gloomy sky. This stock rose a point and one half and was steady at the close at 75 and 76.

There was no change in Grandview and there was little activity, 4,000 shares going at 46 and 46½.

Independence sold at 16, one half a point up.

International Coke and Coal sold up one point to 35 on expected word regarding the dividend.

Kootenay Florence was weak again at 29½.

Lucky Jim sold at 30 and 30½.

Pend Oreille dropped 58 to 15.25, only 100 shares changing hands.

Porter-Idaho strengthened to 60½, up one and one half.

Premier sold down three points to 2.27.

Whitewater sold steady at 2.55, 5 cents lower than Saturday.

Woodbine was in good demand and was steady and active at 35 and 35½, up one and one half points. It was expected that Home Oil would have taken a good rise on word that oil had been struck in quantity, but this stock, although active, remained steady in price.

Topley-Richfield finished at 61.

TORONTO MINES GOSSIP

Toronto, June 11 (By R. F. Castle leased wire)—Barry's sinking operations have passed the first objective of 1,250 feet. A sump is to be put in and a cross cut driven to intersect the extension of the known ore zones off the 1,125-foot level. The present equipment now in operation is capable of deepening the winze to 1,500 feet.

Toronto, June 11 (By R. F. Castle leased wire)—Teck Hughes was very prominent in the week's trading, rising to within a few cents of its high for all time and holding its advantage fairly well right to the close. Recently published reports have emphasized the fact that even with its present milling equipment this company's earnings for the current year will be much higher than ever before and if, as stated in some quarters, the addition of another 300-ton unit is proceeded with it will have no difficulty in maintaining the leadership of the field. The directors will meet shortly to decide on the rate of the dividend due in August. The last payment was the regular ten cents a share plus a five cent bonus, and the public is counting on another advance to be announced.

Toronto, June 11 (By R. F. Castle leased wire)—The strong field position of Amity is revealed by an official report, which shows that in addition to $50,000 in cash, the company still holds in its treasury 1,100,000 shares out of a total of 3,000,000. One car of ore has been shipped to the Noranda smelter and another is to go forward in a few days. No indication has been given as to the net returns per ton, but it is believed that when regular shipment commence the operation will be practically on a paying basis.

The ore being sent forward is sorted and comprises only about one-tenth of what is being taken from development work. Conditions underground are said to be very encouraging. Drifting to the east is being continued on the 250-foot level, and a raise being put up from that horizon to the 125-foot level has progressed for forty feet in continuous ore.

U.S. STEEL ORDERS SHOW BIG DROP

New York, June 11.—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation for May 31, amounted to 1,416,822 tons, against 3,872,133 on April 30, a decrease of 455,311 tons.

GRAHAM-PAIGE SALES RUN HIGH

New York, June 11.—The report from Detroit, which indicated that Graham-Paige Motor Corporation built and shipped 30,000 cars up to June 1, less than five months after the new line was presented, is seen as furnishing a good explanation for the steady advance of the company's stock.

TORONTO MINES HEAVILY SOLD

Toronto, June 11 (By R. F. Castle, leased wire)——A reactionary wave was quite evident in to-day's trading on the Standard Exchange.

Noranda, which has been the leader for the last three weeks and which has given the market a great deal of buoyancy, broke sharply early in the session, easing off to a low of $31.90, firmed up to a close at 32.25 and 32.30, showing a net loss of 3.10.

The New York market opened with a continuation of the selling that has been in progress for several days. Conditions generally in the States are unsettled, due to the coming Republican and Democratic conventions for presidential election. This undoubtedly created considerable hesitancy in Canadian mining stocks, which apparently are not able to sustain any advances of considerable proportion.

Abana under heavy selling sold off to a low of 2.50, rallying to close at 2.73 and 2.75. Rumors are again being circulated that the directors are at loggerheads over certain policies of the company.

Amulet at 410 and 415 was off twenty-nine points. Hudson Bay at 17.75 to 17.90 was off twenty points.

Newbec at 46 to 47 was in strong demand on a report that the ore body had again been encountered in the crosscut on the sixty-five-foot level.

Amity at 44 to 45 was off 5. Sudbury Basin sold off to 975 firming at the close to 10 and 10.20.

Teck Hughes at 10.95 to 11.00 was down 35.

International Nickel opened weak at 92, selling up to 94, easing off to close at 91 and 92.

N.Y. Market Gossip

New York, June 11.—Freeport Texas declared the usual extra dividend of 75c per share and the regular quarterly dividend of $1 per share payable August 1, stockholders of record July 14. Production for the month of May totaled 83,580 tons, which was the largest for any single month in the history of the company, and for the first five months of 1928 it was 356,890 tons against 303,225 tons for the corresponding period of 1927. Bids for dredging the channel at Freeport will be received on July 18, and thereafter harbor improvements will begin immediately, so that production costs which are already at the lowest point should be further reduced about $1 per ton. The suit brought against Freeport by the American Royalty Company was won by Freeport. The fundamental conditions in the sulphur industry are sound and we believe that "F.T." offers large profit possibilities for the long pull.

Paramount Famous Lasky reported earnings of $3.29 per share on the 687,370 shares of no par common for the quarter ended March 31, against $3.33 per share on the 574,617 shares for the first quarter. The company should have record year and its stock should reflect this marketwise.

Warner Quinlan is showing marked strength in a reactionary market. It is rumored that another large company operating in the Eastern market is trying to obtain control of "Q.W." Regardless of possible merger developments Warner Quinlan is improving its position in the industry and should show an increase in its earnings this year.

National Cash Register meeting with good scale buying on all reactions. Insiders are very enthusiastic on the future prospects of the company, and so far this year its business has shown a marked increase.

Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter—The regular monthly meeting of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter I.O.D.E. will be held on Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hudson, 352 Moss Street, at 8 p.m.

STUDEBAKER SEEN READY FOR ADVANCE

New York, June 11 (By Branson, Brown)—Studebaker is said to be ready for a big advance, the net profits in the first quarter being equal to $2.05 a share on the common, against $1.74 last year.

The sharp upswing in Packard, carrying the stock forward over six points to a new record high, again brought forth rumors that a large consolidate was being contemplated by the management.

OKALTA NO. 2 STARTS TO FLOW

Calgary, June 11.—(By R. F. Castle leased wire)—It is reported Okalta No. 2 began flowing in heads at midnight last night, through two-inch tubing. The flow is frequent and appears to be getting heavier. This is crude oil. The well was prepared for the pump and it was to be pumped to-day. The well flowing on its own accord will not now necessitate the pump being run. It is estimated that it will make about 100 barrels or better crude 42-44 baume. The company will be giving out an official statement to-day.

Calmont is eighty-four feet into the lime. Gas and rock pressure getting heavier each foot. As Royalite seven struck at eighty-seven, McLeod one at eighty-four, and Royalite eight at eighty-one feet in the lime. Geologists think Calmont due to enter big production within next few feet.

With Royalite two about 180 feet in the lime, opinions now differ as to where they will strike, and some say they have to go 310 feet where Royalite four struck. Six and four are situated on structure exactly alike.

FILM STUDIO PLANS BEING DRAWN HERE

PROJECT OUTLINED

Mr. Hustwick outlined his project before the industrial group of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon to-day. Introductorily, he roughly explained the British quota law and the advantages it gave to pictures produced in the Empire.

The Pacific Pictures Limited, he said, would commence operations with the latest of equipment, including new features in lighting, photography and stock, which would enable them to produce pictures of the first order quickly and cheaply, at the same time being practically independent of climatic conditions.

Mr. Hustwick mentioned the preliminary work which he and his associates had done already in the development of technique for the proposed studio here, and showed plans and references in connection with the project to members of the group.

He explained that nearly fifty per cent of the negative cost of a picture was for highly paid technical experts. He and his associates represented this group, he said, and by operating under a deferred salary plan, would be able to produce pictures at practically half the usual cost.

Questions were put to Mr. Hustwick regarding his proposal, especially with reference to the financing corporation which was intended in connection with the studio.

It was intimated the group would at a later date go more fully into the information of Mr. Hustwick.

The following information in reference to J. C. Eno Limited is contained in a letter written us by Mr. Harold F. Ritchie, who will be President of International Proprietaries Limited.

J. C. ENO LIMITED AND ITS BUSINESS—International Proprietaries Limited, to be incorporated under laws of the Dominion of Canada, will acquire all the share capital of J. C. Eno Limited (Great Britain), which company is the proprietor and manufacturer of Eno's "Fruit Salt." J. C. Eno Limited owns the formulae, has the exclusive right to manufacture, and through its own organization and selling agencies established throughout the world, and those of its predecessors, it has distributed this product in increasing amounts for more than fifty years. During a quarter century the Company has never had an unprofitable year.

Eno's "Fruit Salt," which is the company's principal product, is a well-known effervescent saline, the name of which is a household word in practically every home in the civilized countries of the world. The purity of its ingredients, the scientific method of its preparation, and the acknowledged medicinal and therapeutic qualities which it possesses have all combined to enhance the business' increasing goodwill, which the company has consistently and conservatively maintained since 1868. The recommendations by members of the medical profession, and the prominence given Eno's "Fruit Salt," by judicious advertising in the press and other suitable publicity, have contributed to enlarge the company's output substantially. Illustrating the comprehensive selling methods adopted is the fact that at the present time advertising campaigns in some form or another are running in practically every country in the world.

Five manufacturing plants are maintained—in London, England; Toronto, Canada; Berlin, Germany; Paris, France; and Barcelona, Spain. With the exception of those countries in which factories are located, the world demand for the company's product is supplied wholly from London, England. Distribution in Canada, Newfoundland, United States of America, Mexico, Central America, South America, West Indies, Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Australia, New Zealand, Pacific Islands and the China Coast, is made through Harold F. Ritchie & Company Limited, Toronto, Harold F. Ritchie & Company Incorporated, New York, and The British Harold F. Ritchie & Company Limited, London, England, through which well-known agencies approximately one-half of the total output is sold. Elsewhere, including the British Isles, France, Germany, Spain, Austria, Hungary, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Poland, Portugal, Africa and India, the Company conducts its own sales activities direct or through selling agencies.

TRADE MARK—The words "Eno" and "Fruit Salt" are registered trade marks in the United Kingdom, British Dominions and Colonies, the Irish Free State, the United States of America, and other foreign countries of any importance throughout the world.

MANAGEMENT AND POLICY—The Directors and Executives responsible for the growth of the business in the past will continue actively in the management. The successful direction of the company will not be altered by reason of the change in ownership and control.

EARNINGS—Based on the certificate of Messrs. Pidgeon, Jackson & Company, Chartered Accountants, London, England, earnings of J. C. Eno Limited, available for taxation and dividends on the shares now being acquired by International Proprietaries Limited, for the five years ended December 31st, 1927, have averaged $769,527

(Earnings converted from pound sterling to dollars at the par of exchange.)

Earnings on the above basis for the twelve months ending December 31st, 1928, are estimated at $825,000

The manufacture in Canada of Eno's "Fruit Salt" was commenced in 1927 and it is now proposed to start production also in United States and elsewhere. Giving effect to known savings to be effected by these changes, based on present operations, it is estimated that earnings on the above basis for the twelve months ending December 31st, 1929, will exceed $900,000

Preferential dividend requirements on this issue .. $504,000

PRICE: $40.00 Per Share and Accrued Dividend

These shares are offered when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to the organization of and issue of shares by International Proprietaries Limited, being passed upon by Messrs. CHAPTER XXII

Although she was awake early on Wednesday morning, Vee-Vee lay listlessly in bed, privacy insured by the "Please do not disturb" sign which she had hung on her doorknob the night before, after her temptesous interview with Nan Fosdick.

Poor Nan! Vee-Vee wanted to trample upon the sympathy which kept rising in her throat. Why should she take it so to heart that that big homely rich girl had lost the man she loved? If Schuyler Smythe had been about to marry her for her money, wasn't she well rid of him? Of course he had never loved Nan! The idea was ridiculous. Probably he, too, had felt that same unwelcome, nagging sympathy for her that made Vee-Vee so uncomfortable now.

Poor Nan! Poor Schuyler! By an accident—a foolish accident for which Jerry Macklyn was responsible—she, Vera Victoria Cameron, was turning two lives topsy-turvy. Wouldn't it be the only decent thing for her to do to go away? But she had let Nan Fosdick do that. She had let Nan be more generous than she was. But Nan had known that she was defeated. Suddenly a sharp thought prodded her into a flush of fear. Schuyler had been afraid that a departing guest might take the news back to New York that the strangely missing Vivian Crandall was at Lake Minetonka. Now two guests, both of whom thought they had cause to hate her—Nan for having taken Schuyler from her; Mrs. Bannister for Vee-Vee's increasing coolness to her—were on their way to New York. They would reach the city by noon. At any moment after noon a telegram might come, exposing Vera Victoria Cameron as a fraud.

A fraud! The flush of fear faded suddenly, leaving the girl shivering with cold. A fraud, an impostor.

Why hadn't she possessed the courage to force her true identity upon them all—schuyer, at least, since he was the only one she cared about? The reason reared its head in her tortured mind, but she beat it back. But it persisted, until at last she burst into tears and let it dominate her mind. She had not made any real effort to convince him of the truth, because she was afraid that at least a part of his worship of Vivian Crandall had been centered upon her 40 millions, upon her breath-taking high social position. Would he have loved, for five hopeless years, a Miss Nobody whom he had met but once? If Vivian Crandall herself were suddenly stripped of social position and wealth, would he still love her quite so ardently, be willing to give up Nan Fosdick and her "neary a million dollars" for a pair of green eyes and an adorable mouth?

She had taunted Nan with loving a man whom she believed to be a fortune-hunter. And yet she was doing the same thing herself. Oh, but she didn't believe, she told herself frantically, beating her hot pillow with a clenched fist. Nan Fosdick had simply been trying to hold Schuyler Smythe by fair means or foul. She had known that the surest way to disgust a great heiress with him was to accuse him of fortune-hunting, an evil which is forever stalking rich girls, turning them sour upon love and life.

"If I lie here thinking much longer I'll go crazy," Vee-Vee told herself vehemently. "I'll find out to-day whether it is I that he loves, or forty million dollars. I'll tell him the truth, force this thing to a shakedown. But—maybe I won't have to tell him. A telegram may come from New York before I have a chance—"

She rose on her elbow, seized the phone and in a crisp, arrogant voice—the voice which she unconsciously assumed whenever she was frightened—ordered her mail and a morning paper to be brought to her room. Then she ordered breakfast—coffee, toasted English muffins and sliced peaches.

She had expected a letter from Jerry Macklyn in answer to hers written on Sunday, and there it was, along with a thin envelope addressed in her Aunt Flora's handwriting. The letters and the paper arrived on the tray with her breakfast, but she had a curious hesitancy about opening them. She poured herself a cup of hot, fragrant coffee and drank it rapidly, grateful for the instant, revivifying effect it had upon her jangled nerves.

She was smiling almost cheerfully when she opened Flora Cartwright's two scrawled sheets of scented, cream-colored stationery.

"My darling Vee-Vee," Flora Cartwright's letter began, "Have you landed him yet? I suppose it is a little early for that question, but he's a fool if he isn't in love with you by this time. I almost hate you for being so beautiful and so young. Peter Darrow is mooning around like a sick calf, begging for your address, which of course I won't give him. I know the disgusting young cub doesn't interest you any more than he does me. Perry Macklyn is proving a great disappointment. He seems to prefer the company of a snippy little peroxide blond to my own society. I saw that at the theatre last night. I imagine she's that Rosemary Fitch you've talked about.

"Please don't stay any longer than two weeks, darling. I may be driven to marrying Jack Preston all over again if I'm left to my down devices much longer. He is a dear, though he's getting to look quite middle-aged and settled. He made a neat little killing in Wall Street on Monday. I'm quite seriously tempted. Maybee we'll come to Lake Minnetonka on our honeymoon and surprise you. Write me all about your progress with the mysterious sheik. Why can't you be frank with me and tell me his name? Your devoted Aunt Flora."

A cynical smile twisted the delicate curves of Vee-Vee's beautiful mouth. So Jerry Macklyn was consoling himself with Rosemary Fitch! She might have known he would. He had admitted that he was "susceptible," and Rosemary had been quite shamelessly determined to get in her most deadly work while Vee-Vee was away. Well, let her have him! But the angry vigor with which Vee-Vee's fingers crushed the sheets of her aunt's letter into a crackling ball did not indicate a cheerful acquiescence in Rosemary's conquest.

"I'll have to write Aunt Flora a special delivery, begging her not to come here on her honeymoon if she does marry Uncle Jack again," she worried, as she dipped a spoon into the chilled peaches. "Goodness knows this situation is complicated enough without having Aunt Flora here, vamping Schuyler and spilling the beans. If beans are going to be split, I want to do the spilling myself."

It was not until she had quite finished her breakfast that she opened Jerry's thick letter. She had an obscure fear that its contents might spoil her appetite.

"Dearest Galatea," Jerry began whimsically, "Glad you're having a good time. I hope the mysterious magnet that drew you to Minnetonka is engaged to another girl, though I don't want you to be hurt. I'm getting quite an education in being hurt myself, and I'm still able to work and take nourishment."

"And to go gallivanting around to musical revues with Rosemary Fitch!" Vee-Vee interrupted her reading scornfully.

"I'm up to my ears in work and it's so damned hot that I feel like I'm swimming around in hot oil. Miss Fitch can't hold a candle to you as a secretary, and the work is piling up. But she's a cheerful little dimwit, better on a party than at her typewriter."

"Well, at least he's honest!" Vee-Vee exploded, rattling the sheets of Jerry's letter angrily. "It's easy to see that the stock of Blonds Preferred hasn't taken a tumble since I left New York."

"I rather imagine my fears for you haven't been realized, or I would have had a wire from you. This will sound like Greek to you if you haven't read the letter I gave you at the train, and I hope you haven't had occasion to. But I want to impress on you that if you do get into a jam I'll fly to your assistance—and when I say fly, I mean fly. Whew! It's hot. Why don't you invite me up to Minnetonka for the week-end? I promise to be good, not to interfere with your campaign, if the sheik is still unattached. And if he is engaged to the other girl, maybe you'd like to see old red-headed Jerry. I'm enclosing a letter from Rosemary Fitch. She asked for your address but I wouldn't give it to her, told her I'd send her letter on to you. We all miss you. For what it's worth to you—I love you. Jerry."

"Dear Jerry!" Vee-Vee murmured, holding the stiff sheets of the letter against her cheek caressingly. "I suppose I ought to invite him. He sounds depressed. The heat, probably.

But she knew that it was not only the heat that accounted for the letter that was so unlike the exuberant Jerry she had grown so fond of. Another life that she had turned topsy-turvy! But Jerry would soon right himself. He was already consoling himself with a "cheerful little dimwit."

That last thought reminded her of Rosemary's letter. It was a gushy, slangy, newsy letter, packed with gossip of the offices. Only two paragraphs interested Vee-Vee keenly:

"I'm absolutely mad about Jerry Macklyn, and I believe, if you'll stay away long enough, that Jerry will join the ranks of other gentlemen who prefer bonds. I've actually had two dates with him, quite against his will, but dates for all that. He swings a wicked hoof, our Jerry!"—and—

"The booklets came from the printer's to-day. They're simply stunning, Vee-Vee. 'The Modern Story of an Ugly Duckling' is going to be one of the most popular 'true stories' ever printed, or I'm the dimwit that Jerry calls me. We're not going to send them out to retailers and demonstrators until you get back from your vacation, Jerry says. I scent a mystery, but if I were you I'd be proud to be known as 'The Peach Bloom Girl'."

Vee-Vee flung the irritating letters far away from her and opened the paper which had come up with the letters. It was a New York paper, an early edition of the evening before.

The name of Vivian Crandall leaped out of the front page at her, drove the blood from her heart.

Police Inquiry In Vancouver To Be Speeded Up

Vancouver, June 11—"The necessity of getting on with the city's business in the proper manner is apparent to everyone, and I see no need of prolonging the police inquiry after Jackson, McLaughlin, the chief and the Mayor have been heard," declared G. G. McGeer, K.C., last night. As counsel for T. W. Fletcher, police commissioner, Mr. McGeer looks for an early conclusion of the inquiry into the police administration in Vancouver and would not be surprised to see all the testimony in this week.

Engineers Hear Chief Forester

Vancouver, June 11.—Finishing with an excursion to Grouse Mountain and a dinner and dance at the Chalet, the three-day convention of the Western general professional meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada came to a close here Saturday night after very successful sessions. One hundred and twenty-three people attended the closing function, and this number was representative of the number of delegates attending throughout the entire convention.

The fourth and final technical session took place Saturday morning when two papers were given. "Forest Conservation in the West" was the subject of an illustrated address by P. Z. Caverhill, chief forester, Department of Lands, Victoria.

RELIEF PLANE DELAYED

Rome, June 11.—The big seaplane, Savoia-55, for which calls had been made as aid in the rescue of the crew of the North Pole dirigible Italia took off from Milan yesterday for Zurich, Switzerland, but failed to reach its objective. Heavy clouds prevented the machine from crossing the Alps, so a roundabout route was taken by way of Marseilles. The machine went up the valley of the Rhone, but was forced down on the river by bad weather at a point below Lyons. The reports assured the Air Ministry here, however, that the machine was not damaged. Major Maddelena piloted the plane.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Tick Bug

(Copyright, 1928 by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

(By Howard R. Garis)

Baby Bunty crept close to Uncle Wiggily while the Skillery Scallery Alligator was sitting on his double-jointed tail, looking at the puzzle marks which the rabbit gentleman had drawn in the mud with a pointed stick.

"You want me to tell you what animals made those marks; is that it?" bellowed the 'Gator who had a voice like a bull.

"Well, they weren't all made by animals," said Uncle Wiggily, who always told the truth, even in puzzles. "I didn't say animals."

"Are you hungry?"

"But I say these marks were made by animals!" roared the chap with the double-jointed tail. "Those three dot marks were made by the Bob Cat, standing on his hind legs and sticking his silly little tail in the mud, and the four dot marks were made by the Fox—"

"Wrong! Wrong!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. "You guessed two marks wrong and, even if you guessed the other two right, I wouldn't let you nibble my ears nor Bunty's, either! Quick! Run home to your den if you would be in time for lunch!"

As Uncle Wiggily shouted this he pretended to tell time by the dumb watch. And he fooled the 'Gator into thinking he would be late for lunch, so that the Bad Chap waddled away and Bunty and Uncle Wiggily were safe. Then the little rabbit girl looked at the puzzle marks and said:

"Tell me the answers, Uncle Wig."

"I will, but not baby talk!" said Mr. Longears. "The three dot marks are those of a three-legged stool, the four dot marks are the four legs of a chair. A man pushing a wheelbarrow made some of the tracks and a boy learning to ride on a bicycle the marks that looked like a snake.

"Oh, how cute!" said Bunty.

Then she and Uncle Wiggily hopped on some more and Bunty looked up at the sun, for she knew when it was straight over head it would be noon

Can you read this?

and time to eat. Mr. Longears, seeing how anxious the little rabbit girl was, asked her:

"Are you hungry?"

"I don't know if I am or not," she answered. "If only your dumb watch would go we might know when it is lunch time. Listen to it again, Uncle Wiggily, and see if it isn't ticking."

The rabbit took the dumb watch out of his pocket and held it to his ear. Then he let Bunny listen. But there was no ticking sound.

I think it's silly to have a watch that doesn't even tick," said Bunny. "Suppose you met some friend of yours, Uncle Wiggily, and he asked you the time, you couldn't even pretend to tell him; could you?"

"Not with a dumb watch that doesn't tick," said Mr. Longears.

But just then, all of a sudden, down in the grass both rabbits heard a ticking tocking sound.

"Oh," cried Bunty, "maybe that's your real watch!"

"Maybe," agreed Uncle Wiggily. But when he looked down in the grass he saw only a little bug crawling along. "Who are you?" asked the rabbit.

"I am the bug called Tick," was the answer, and away he ticked and tocked like a little clock, clicking his legs and wings.

"Why, you're just what we need!" cried Bunty. "You can be a tick for Uncle Wiggily's watch! Put this tick bug inside the dumb watch and everybody will think it's going," said Bunty.

"A good idea if the tick will get in my dumb watch," agreed Mr. Longears. And when the tick bug said he didn't mind, inside the dumb watch he was put and then it sounded just as if it kept time. "Tick tock!"

"Now we'll hop along and get something to eat," said Bunty.

Pretty soon she and Uncle Wiggily came to a rail fence to which were fastened letters making queer words.

"Oh!" cried Bunty. "I can't read that. Can you?"

"It must be a puzzle," said Mr. Longears. "Let's try to do it."

So he and Bunty and the tick bug in the dumb watch sat down near the fence. And if the jelly bean doesn't try to spread itself all over the slice of bread like molasses, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the prickle flower. And if you can't do the puzzle I'll tell you the answer.

Alpinists Buy Site At Sooke

Vancouver Island Mountaineers Acquire Clubhouse Location

The Vancouver Island section of the Alpine Club of Canada will purchase from the Provincial Government a portion of the new Sooke park reservation, to be used as a clubhouse site. The purchase was authorized on Saturday evening at a dinner meeting at the Belvedere Hotel, Sooke, after fifty members and their friends had inspected the 149-acre site.

The Government has agreed that the purchase money will be expended in development of a trail from the Canadian National Railway to the site of the club hut to be erected upon the property.

The location of the property acquired by the Alpine Club is three miles from the end of the road on the north side of Sooke River. The tract is triangular, and includes parts of Grass Lake and Shield's Lake.

The Belvedere Hotel management has agreed to maintain the trail to the site in good condition after it is constructed, and the Canadian National Railway has consented to put in a flag station at the crossing of the railway and the trail, as soon as the clubhouse is built.

CAMP IN ROCKIES

The twenty-third annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada will be held in the Purceil Range in the Banff-Windermere district, and will be open from July 17 to July 31. The camp will be located below the Lake of the Hanging Glaciers, at an altitude of 5,700 feet. Many peaks exceeding 10,000 feet are within the district, which has not previously been visited by the club.

The pantry of a large steamer crossing the Atlantic often possesses 5,000 chickens and 35,000 eggs for the meals of its passengers during the voyage.

A UNIVERSAL EVIL

CONSTIPATION not only reduces the general level of health but is in itself a sign of lowered bodily conditions. So general is this scourge that it is altogether likely you need roughage in your diet. Everybody does.

Sufficient roughage of the right kind in the diet prevents constipation. Modern eating habits tend to neglect sufficient roughage in the food we eat. Post's Bran Flakes provides necessary food roughage. More, it is delicious to eat—every crisp, golden flake!

Make this two weeks' test and note the difference

Constipation must not be neglected. Start a two weeks' test now. Order a package of Post's Bran Flakes from your grocer.

Start by eating a dish of Post's Bran Flakes for breakfast. Eat it as a cereal with milk or cream. You will find it as good as any cereal you ever tasted.

Do this every day for two weeks. We predict you will find a real difference in the way you feel, and that you have been "regular" all the time.

But don't stop at the end of two weeks. Eat Post's Bran Flakes every morning for health and regularity.

Post's Bran Flakes is sold by all grocers in a wax-wrapped package. Ready to eat.

It is dangerous to experiment with patent medicines and drug laxatives. They bring only temporary relief and may make matters much worse. Ordinary cases of constipation brought about by too little roughage in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes. If your case is abnormal, don't experiment. Consult a competent physician.

FOREST HEROISM

The annals of the Forest Service is full of the records of heroic deeds by the rangers. Gifford Pinchot tells the story of how courage and clear thinking on the part of Ranger Edward C. Pulaski saved many lives in the Coeur d'Alene National Forest. Pulaski had forty Italians and Poles under him as emergency fire fighters.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

The fire surrounded them. Soon it became apparent that it would be impossible to travel through the dense forest to escape the flames.

Pulaski thought of an abandoned mine in the neighborhood. He led the men into it and placed a wet blanket over the mouth of the tunnel.

Standing guard with drawn pistol at the mouth of the mine he forced the men to remain. Some went mad temporarily from the intense heat and from fear. The workers tried to break out—Pulaski forced them back with his pistol. One did escape—only to die in the furnace outside. Pulaski spent months in the hospital suffering from burns, but he saved his men.

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, JUNE 12, 1928

This is read as another adverse day in planetary direction. Astrologers counsel thought before action in small as well as large things.

All through the day there may be a tendency toward depression and a general pessimism, which should be combatted.

The mind may be unusually sensitive to impressions that are discouraging and should not harbor even the least destructive idea.

The configuration appears to encourage the contemplation of what is sad instead of what is good. Suicides are numerous when the stars are posited as in to-day's aspects.

The seers point out that thought is so potent it should be kept positive and never permitted to assume the negative form except when it his important to obtain the right stamp.

At the time of the ingress of the Summer quarter, June 21, Saturn in the house of money may encourage financial anxiety, especially among those who have wasted their substance.

Much romance will mark the entire Summer, for men will be ardent suitors, but difficult to fetter in the bonds of matrimony.

Again the seers foretell a new motive power that will take the place of gasoline in automobiles and aeroplanes.

A new ray of devastating possibilities will be numbered among the provisions for war, it is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have unexpected changes and many surprises in the coming year.

The aspects are not promising for domestic felicity, and many divorces may be expected among persons who are believed to have weathered early difficulties.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly progressive. Many idealists who get into trouble are born under this sign.

To Try Out New Fuel For Steamships

Government Subsidizes Tests of Pulverized Coal to Assist Mines

To promote the widespread use of British Columbia coal in a pulverized form, the Provincial Government has subsidized immediate experiments with this fuel by the Pacific (Coyle) Navigation Company of Vancouver, and if these experiments are successful will assist the company in installing a pulverized coal-burning plant in one of its thirty tug boats.

Announcement of these important plans for testing out pulverized coal here and giving the lead to its use in industry, was made at the Parliament Buildings to-day under the authority of Premier MacLean.

On the recommendation of the Department of Mines, it was stated the Department of Industries has investigated this subsidy proposal and the Cabinet has endorsed it. The Pacific (Coyle) Navigation Company, operators of a fleet of thirty tug boats on this coast, will be subsidized immediately to the extent of $1,000 to assist in defraying the cost of gathering data and of research work necessary to establish the practicability of pulverized coal in place of fuel oil on steamships.

If the company establishes to its satisfaction that the new fuel is satisfactory for these purposes, a further sum not exceeding $11,000 will be provided to assist in the installation of a pulverized coal-burning plant on one of the company's boats.

DEMONSTRATE VALUE

The purpose of this scheme, the Premier explained, is to demonstrate the value of British Columbia's coal in pulverized form in competition with imported United States fuel oil, the use of which here in large quantities is one of the chief obstacles to the prosperity of coal mining.

Meanwhile, Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Mines, announced that J. D. Galloway, Provincial Mineralogist, acting on the instructions of the Government, has prepared a full report on the use of pulverized coal which will be issued in due course. This report will be based on Mr. Galloway's investigations at Ottawa, where he recently was sent to confer with Federal Government experts on the use of pulverized coal in industry.

START NEW TESTS

Mr. Galloway has informed the Provincial Government that the Federal authorities are about to start a complete investigation into the various uses of coal. A new building costing over $100,000 for these tests is being erected at Ottawa and will be equipped with the most modern facilities for coal testing. Coals from all over Canada will be tried out for their suitability for low carbonization, intermediate coking, liquefaction and gasification processes. British Columbia coals will be thoroughly tested in this plant.

"The whole question of finding new uses for our vast coal resources in British Columbia is being given the earnest study of our Mines Department in co-operation with the Federal Government," the Premier said. "As result of our study so far, we believe the most practical way of promoting the use of pulverized coal is to demonstrate, if possible, its value in actual practice. This is our reason for deciding to subsidize private investigations and later, if this step is justified, the cost of a definite experiment.

"We believe we have in British Columbia the right coal for pulverized use, and that once this is demonstrated the general use of this fuel in place of imported oil will follow in the industry of the Province, to the Province, to the great economic advantage of the Province generally."

EXPECTS SUCCESS

In considering this matter the Department of Mines got in touch with the leading collieries of British Columbia and some interesting comment was received from that source. The opinion was unanimous that the action contemplated was in the right direction.

Lieutenant-Colonel Charles W. Villiers, general manager, Canadian Collieries (D.) Limited, said that it was his belief, in view of the results already obtained from research work in Great Britain and the United States, that the use of powdered coal in steamships will be proven practical and efficient.

BIG TUG FLEET

The Pacific (Coyle) Navigation Company, whose headquarters are at Vancouver, B.C., have in operation at present thirty tugs—fifteen coal-burning and fifteen oil-burning. They use from 18,000 to 20,000 tons of coal and 65,000 barrels of oil a year. They are the largest towing company north of the City of San Francisco, California. If the result of experiment warrants, it would be expected that the company would gradually convert their oil-burning craft to pulverized coal burning, thereby displacing present oil consumption by the use of 16,250 further tons of British Columbia coal. The full results of experiment are to be at the disposal of the Department of Mines and the Department of Industries for publication and distribution with a view to the encouragement of other installations of a similar character on steamboats plying in British Columbia coastal waters and stationary industrial plants within the Province.

ALABAMA ARRIVES IN SOUND PORTS

New Ferry Steamer For Service Between Victoria and Edmonds Ends Long Trip

Completing a 6,000-mile voyage from Chesapeake Bay to Puget Sound via the Panamal Canal and San Pedro, the steamship Alabama, acquired in Baltimore by the recently organized Edmonds-Victoria Ferry Company, arrived at Port Angeles at 8 o'clock last evening and proceeded to Edmonds, from which port she will operate in a new international ferry route between the United States and British Columbia. After entering at Edmonds, the vessel will go to Seattle to put ashore extra fuel tanks used during the voyage.

The Alabama left Baltimore May 19, making the voyage in twenty-one days, and while she encountered some heavy weather off the coast of Mexico, performed splendidly throughout the voyage, according to Capt. Alex Zugerhor, who commanded the vessel on her long voyage.

PAYNE MET VESSEL

Capt. J. Howard Payne, vice-president and general manager of the new company, met the vessel at Port Angeles, and made the trip on her to Edmonds, from which port she will make her maiden voyage to Victoria next Saturday.

The departure of the Alabama from Baltimore occasioned considerable regret along Chesapeake Bay, according to Capt. Zugerhor, for the vessel, which was popularly known as the "Queen of the Chesapeake," has long been a favorite, particularly among Baltimoreans.

RATES REDUCED FOR MOTORISTS

Puget Sound Navigation Company Reduce All Rates on Ferry Steamers

For the purpose of encouraging motor travel to Vancouver Island, routed through Victoria, the Puget Sound Navigation Company this morning announced cuts in all their fares on all ferry routes operating to this Island, and between ports on Puget Sound. This will enable motorists for a very modest rate to tour from any Puget Sound port to Bellingham, across to Sidney to Victoria and then across the Strait into Port Angeles and back to Seattle, either over the Olympic Highway to Olympia, and the Pacific Highway to Seattle or to ferry across the Sound from Brinnon into Seattle.

Victoria motorists may now make a week-end trip to Sound ports by leaving here on Saturday on the Olympic for Port Angeles and then by road to Seattle by way of Olympia and Tacoma, or from Port Angeles to Brinnon and then across the sound on ferry to Seattle. From Seattle the route leads north to Anacortes or Bellingham to Sidney and then into Victoria. The one ticket is good for any ferry steamer operated by the Puget Sound Navigation Company, known as the Black Ball ferry routes.

NEW TUG FOR ISLAND WORK

C.N.R. Purchase Two Tugs at Vancouver; One For Vancouver Island Service

Two well-known Vancouver tugboats have been purchased by the Canadian National Railway—the St. Catherines and the motor tug Radius.

The St. Catherines will be used in the ferry service from the Fraser River to Vancouver Island, and the Radius will be put in service on Okanagan Lake. The Radius will be dismantled and sent up by rail. She is the first motor tugboat ever placed in operation there.

BUILT IN 1923

Built in 1923 for Captain J. A. Cates of Vancouver, the vessel served on Gulf and harbor work for some years until finally she was sunk in an accident off Prospect Point. She was raised, and repaired, by the insurance company and was sold later to the Dominion Tug Company, which company has sold her to the C.N.R. She is a wooden vessel fifty-three feet long, fourteen feet beam and thirty-three tons.

ADMIRALTY TYPE

The St. Catherines is a large, deep-sea tugboat of the same type as Ss. Kyuquot of the Canadian Pacific Railway ferry service from Vancouver, and the Powell River Paper Company tugboat St. Faith. Built by the admiralty for deepsea service during the war, these ships are powerfully built and splendidly equipped. They have sufficient power to meet any deepsea weather.

The St. Catherines was bought about two years ago by the Vancouver Board of Harbor Commissioners and brought there from England to be used as a harbor tug and to be ready for outside service is required. Since her arrival in Vancouver she has lain idle. Her sale to the railway company has been under negotiation for many months and was practically closed some weeks ago, but she was not formally turned over until this week, it is stated.

The seedless tomato has been perfected in Kansas by a horticultural experimenter.
